The Smallest Baby, What Sort of Keynote? Small, Surprised Terrier. We May Learn to Think.

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IN A PASTEBOARD box in Kansas City, with hot water bottles around it, lies a small male human being weighing exactly one pound. If still alive, he will be three days old when you read this. Doctors think he will live.

This smallest baby, born too soon, somewhat undernourished, has extraordinary vitality, and absorbs liquid from an eyedropper.

All mothers will be intensely interested in the child. All Wall Street will say is:

"It reminds you of recent dividends and values."

THE DEMOCRATIC party has selected for keynoter Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky. As temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention, he will keynote eloquently.

The next question is what will the "keynote" be? "I want a job," is not a convincing keynote, but Democrats thus far do not seem united on any other.

It seems strange that a national situation with so many complications should not have developed some one definite plan.

Do you know of any plan that Democrats have in mind, or Republicans either?

IN THE GENERAL Electric plant at Schenectady yesterday, a small, wire-haired terrier barked into a microphone, and barked and barked. Every time that he barked, he was a surprised terrier, for his bark, having gone around the world, by way of Holland, Java and Australia, came back and barked in his ear. Of course, he didn't know how far the bark had gone, but to bark and have his barks return to him in a fraction of a second was enough to delight any terrier.

The radio is a great invention. If men only had something to say worth sending around the world.

LITTLE BY little the people of the United States will be compelled to think for themselves, and even do something for themselves.

New Yorkers, as has been suggested, will do some thinking when the city taxes them a penny or two on every subway ride.

The people of Mississippi, from whom, according to yesterday's Associated Press figures, 39,699 farms and much city property have been seized for taxes, will also do some thinking.

MISSISSIPPI IS no exception. It is said that in Michigan one-third of the country real estate land has been abandoned because it wasn't worth while paying taxes on it. Whether tax gatherers seize your property, or you give it to them, makes little difference.

HOWEVER, NOT all news is sad. We shall soon be told all about the process of isolating Vitamin C, discovered by a young professor of chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh. It is the lack of Vitamin C that causes scurvy, and isolating the vitamin is important.

AND DR. Walter Damrosch, whose concerts, broadcast by the General Electric Company, are an important part of this country's education, tells you:

"Crooners are not born that way."

Some of them can sing, and few would croon, except for pay.

Cardinal O'Connell's criticism of the crooners has helped and sounds that suggest a love-sick chimpanzee mumbling to its mate will not vex you forever.

YESTERDAY Wall Street continued shaking like an aspen leaf, or calves' foot jelly. The worry is about taxes, put on the brokers' business in efforts of Congress to "dig up" new taxation.

A Wall Street man calls attention to the fact that when a customer buys and sells one hundred shares of American Telephone and Telegraph, these assorted burdens are laid upon him:

The broker gets $26 for buying the stock, $25 for selling it. The nation lays a tax of $27 on the transaction, and the state of New York collects $4, a total tax of $81.

A COMMITTEE investigating conditions in Hawaii reports:

"We found in Hawaii no organized crime, no important criminal class and no criminal racket."

We, on "the mainland," have organized crime developed into a great industry, a criminal class that draws an income as great as that of the United States, and criminal rackets without end. We should send another commission to Hawaii to get suggestions for use here.

EFFORTS BY British and Dutch growers of rubber, producers of nearly all of the world's supply, have failed to raise prices of the raw material.

Therefore, the present extremely low cost of tires will continue, and one of many good reasons for buying an automobile will continue also.

GOV. CONLEY ASKED FOR PARDON

Woman, Aided by Musmanno, Appeals to Executive to Spare Life of Husband

By DAVE JONES
Staff Correspondent

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 6.—A mother who for 18 years feared the law would snatch her husband from her side today appealed to Gov. William G. Conley to spare the life of Frank Pauletta, Coverdale (Pa.) miner, under sentence to be hanged April 22.

Flanked by five children, one of whom she had not seen since her husband fled from the Harrison County Jail 18 years ago after being convicted of murder, Mrs. Nellie Kearns Pauletta pleaded for mercy through County Judge M. A. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh.

ASKED FOR PARDON

The Governor, who previously had indicated he would grand "relief to the condemned man, was asked by Judge Musmanno for a full pardon. Musmanno emphasized the fact that he acted only from a humanitarian interest. He said Pauletta had been sufficiently punished by his conscience during the years since his escape.

The plea was echoed by Biagio Merendino, of Clarksburg, counsel for Pauletta, when the miner was convicted. He said it should have been a second degree verdict.

Musmanno said he did not intend to be "maudlin" or sentimental," and referred to the maximum penalty of 18 years' imprisonment for second degree murder and said Pauletta "has served 18 years because the years that have passed since his conviction certainly cannot be considered years of liberty."

Musmanno said:

"Pauletta has aged until, although less than 50, he looks

MOB INJURES WIFE OF PREMIER

Husband Hides After 10,000 Riot in Newfoundland; War Veterans on Guard

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 6. (AP.) — The Newfoundland government had doubtful status today and neither friend nor foe could find Premier Sir Richard Squires to induce him to resign.

The premier fled late yesterday as an angry mob of 10,000 persons stormed the Colonial Building, looted government documents, broke up furniture and threatened to drown Squires in the harbor.

It was learned today that Lady Squires, wife of the prime minister and Newfoundland's only woman legislator, probably was struck and injured by one of the many missiles hurled from the mob yesterday. She was escorted from the Assembly Chamber by L. E. Emerson, an opposition member. Her face was bandaged.

VETERANS ON GUARD

This afternoon the premier had neither called upon nor sent his resignation to the King's Governor, Sir John Middleton.

Sir William Coaker, minister without portfolio, submitted his own resignation and was expected to suggest a national coalition governmen to placate the mob. Action on his withdrawal was withheld, however, pending word from Squires.

Pickets of war veterans augmented municipal police to patrol the streets today. Business was carried on as usual and merchants had no fear that disorders would affect them.

The ex-service men were called on to check pillaging after 10,000 men, women and children, howling that they would drown Sir Richard, conquered police and partly wrecked the House of Assembly. Liquor stores were looted. Several persons were hurt.

"Mounties" tried to push the crowd back. A ragged man tore a policeman's cape off. Drawing batons, the officers belabored the crowd, and in a thrice tumult roared. Flinging sticks and stones, the mob forced police to retreat. They smashed almost every window in the building, crashed down doors and tossed every movable object out of the basement, even a piano.

SAVED BY CLERGYMEN

Rescued by three clergymen, Sir Richard took refuge in an undisclosed place.

The riot culminated a series of troubles, financial and otherwise, which rocked this colony, Britain's oldest, for months. Once before a mob, shouting demands for increased doles for the jobless, attacked and roughly handled the Premier.

The disturbance yesterday, which started at the Colonial House, but quickly spread over the city, resulted from a charge that Sir Richard falsified Council minutes to facilitate transfer of public money to a political fund.

Ten thousand strong, the citizens, numbering many unemployed, marched to the Colonial Building crying for a "proper investigation." The mob grew sullen and then clamorous as its deputation encountered delay in gaining admittance.

Roxie Long Yields To Fingerprints

Roxie Long changed his mind today and submitted to having his fingerprints taken at the United States marshal's office.

He had objected yesterday as he posted bond for trial on a liquor conspiracy charge and was backed up by his attorney Harry I. Miller.

NATALIE TALMADGE KEATON

Phonograph Records Bring Peace After Row Over Flight

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 6.—(AP.)—Three phonograph records, sent by Buster Keaton, film comedian, to his wife, the former Natalie Talmadge, brought apparent harmony to the Keaton household today.

Mrs. Keaton, after an absence of four days, was living again with her husband following a period of disturbed domestic relations which, the film comedian said, resulted from his desire to "show who wears the trousers around the house."

The first overture, made in the form of a phonograph record, "You've Got Me Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea," was sent by the comedian to his wife yesterday morning.

A few hours later, a second record entitled, "All of Me," was dispatched.

That failing to bring results, Keaton said he sent a third. It was entitled, "Can't We Talk It Over?"

Mrs. Keaton appeared at her home shortly after receipt of that one.

The differences between Keaton and his wife came to public notice Monday when Mrs. Keaton, enlisting the aid of District Attorney Buron Fitts, persuaded San Diego police to take Keaton and his two young sons, Joe and Robert, from an airplane that stopped there while en route to Ensenada, Mexico.

Keaton said the differences arose from his desire to take the boys on an airplane trip and Mrs. Keaton's refusal to sanction such a thing. Keaton said:

"I just wanted to see who's boss. I didn't know I'd stir up a miniature war in doing it, though."

CURTIS BACK, SILENT ON MYSTERY JOURNEY

Hope Raised as Couple With Baby Carriage Land in Secret From Boat, Vanish

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

TRENTON, N. J., April 6.—Belief that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby would be restored today to its parents was widely held among those working on the case.

This infectious optimism and the persistent rumor that Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., through subterranean channels, had already been recovered from the abductors, followed a day and night of dramatic events in the hunt for the infant.

CURTIS RETURNS, SILENT

John H. Curtis, one of the three Norfolk citizens who have been acting as intermediaries, returned to his home in Norfolk this afternoon after a mysterious absence of four days. He dodged reporters with the simple statement:

"I will have nothing to say until I have conferred with Admiral Burrage and Dr. Dobson-Peacock."

Curtis left Norfolk last Saturday morning, allegedly on an errand which concerned the contacting of the kidnapers, and no word came from him until today. The Very Rev. Dean Harold Dobson-Peacock and Admiral Guy L. Burrage, his co-negotiators, had maintained a consistent silence in regard to the activities of their absent colleague, merely reiterating the fact that they were optimistic as to the final outcome of the negotiations.

Dean Dobson-Peacock's wife had told International News Service that today marked a crucial point in the work of her husband and his two associates.

From Mashpee, Mass., came information that a man and a woman with a baby carriage came ashore from a small boat at Waquoit today and disappeared in a wooded road in South Mashpee.

HUNT FOR COUPLE FAILS

The report of the incident and a subsequent unsuccessful hunt for the man and woman by state police and Chief of Police William A. Mercer, of Mashpee, followed reports that Coast Guard vessels, under orders in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, were keeping rendezvous of some mysterious sort off the coast of Cape Cod, near No Man's Land Island.

Maquoit is at the head of a mainland inlet on Nantucket Sound.

The man and the woman with the baby carriage were observed coming ashore by John Jones and his son, fishermen, who followed

KENNA RESIGNS COUNTY JOB

Eddie Kenna, battle-scarred political veteran, who learned his politics in the Strip, today lost his place on the county payroll.

Kenna, Road Commissioner at $6,500 a year, resigned orally to Highways Director F. J. Chester, effective immediately.

After Chester had reported the resignation to the County Commissioners, Commissioners W. D. Mansfield and C. M. Barr readily accepted. Chairman C. C. McGovern is, of course, still in the hospital, his ankle broken.

Kenna resigned after Barr had instructed Chester to tell him to quit or be fired.

His resignation follows that of a political friend, John A. Fugassi, Road Superintendent, whose removal also was credited to Barr.

Both were on the payroll for the eight years in which Joseph G. Armstrong was Commissioner.

London Routs Mice From Mellon Suite

LONDON, April 6.—(INS.)—With installation of 15 high-powered, latest design mousetraps, the American embassy in Prince's Gate was made ready today for the reception of Andrew W. Mellon, new ambassador to the Court of St. James, who is expected to arrive tomorrow.

Servants explained that the residence was once infested with rodents. Most of Mr. Mellon's valuable collection of old china and rare pictures has been placed in his private suite, but some of his paintings will be placed in the public rooms.

Campus Riot Marks Strike at Columbia

Athletes Wage War On Friends of Ousted Editor

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP.)—A group of Columbia University athletes wrested a 15-foot strip of crepe from more than twice as many striking students today in the first disorder attending the one-day strike in protest against the expulsion of Reed Harris, editor of the Spectator, student newspaper.

The strikers had proposed to use the crepe to tie a gag on the alma mater statue in front of the university library and a rough and tumble scrimmage, in which some of the strikers suffered minor injuries, resulted.

The athletes, who supported the stand taken by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Dean Herbert E. Hawkes in the expulsion of Harris, apparently escaped unscathed.

Speakers took their turns on the steps of the library building to urge the students to join the strike. Some of them were targets for barrages of eggs thrown by opponents of the strike. Several of the missiles struck the alma mater statue.

Then someone threw a bunch of sputtering firecrackers into the crowd, which momentarily scattered. A group of strikers then produced the crepe and the fight was on.

Several of the professors today called off their classes because of the strike, and others announced examinations had been postponed. Others conducted their classes.

HOPE TO REOPEN CLOSED BANK

HARRISBURG, April 6.—Prospect of the reopening, within a month, of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, was regarded as brighter here today following a conference of a delegation representing depositors with Secretary of Banking William D. Gordon.

Gordon said definite suggestions had been made as to steps necessary to reopening and that the delegation would return April 20 after depositors have been consulted.

Dr. A. L. Lewin, who headed the group, said:

"We feel confident we can meet the conditions laid down by Dr. Gordon. The plan will be presented to the depositors as soon as possible."

Gordon told the committee the first 10 per cent dividend to depositors would be paid tomorrow, regardless of reorganization plans, and would not interfere with such plans.

Britain Receives Free State Reply

LONDON, April 6.—(INS.)—The Irish Free State reply to the British note on the oath and annuities question was received at the Dominions office today. An official announcement said:

"The reply is now being digested. All points raised will receive the careful consideration of his majesty's government."

It was indicated there was no possibility of publication of the document until next week.

75,000 in Parade Marking War Call 15 Years Ago

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS.)—The call of the drum and fife re-echoed through the capital today to remind those now seeking ways and means of trimming the Army that 15 years ago today this country went to war.

This is Army Day, and the capital made the most of it. Plans were complete for a mammoth parade down Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the Washington Monument, where President Hoover, Secretary of War Hurley and other members of the cabinet planned to review the marchers from a special stand. Organizers of the parade planned for 75,000 marchers.

While essentially commemorating America's entrance into the World War, with the "tin hats" of the A. E. F. predominating in the parade, the event also called attention to the armies of other days. The colorful colonial uniforms and costumes; the plumed "stovepipe" caps of the War of 1812 and the Mexican War; the squashed-down forage cap and the blue uniform of the Civil War, and the campaign hat and flannel shirt of the War with Spain all were represented in the procession.

Frick Woods Blast, Fire Burn Watchman's Kin

One man was burned badly when an explosion and fire destroyed a city-owned frame shack housing gasoline, oil and lime in Frick Woods early today.

Burned about the hands and lower part of the body, Joseph Poland, 26, of 3636 Beechwood boulevard, is in the Columbia Hospital. He is a cousin of the watchman, Calvin Dormall, 26, of 3904 Nantasket street, who, police charge, was not on duty when the fire broke out. A suspicious person charge has been lodged against Poland.

The shack is located in Fern Hollow, near Henrietta and La Clair streets, Regent Square. Battalion Chief John Zollinger said he could not estimate the damage.

According to police, Poland said the place was in flames when he arrived to visit his cousin. He said he was burned by an explosion that occurred as he approached the structure. His clothing burned off. Poland ran a mile to a gas station, where an attendant removed him to the hospital.

MILLS DEMANDS HIGHER TAX LEVIES TO BALANCE BUDGET

MORE REVENUE NEEDED, SAYS SECRETARY

Head of Treasury Carries Demand Before Senate Committee Studying Bill

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The administration's demand for greater revenues to balance the budget was carried to the Senate Finance Committee today by Secretary of the Treasury Mills as it began consideration of the new billion-dollar [illegible].

Mills proposed the House bill would not [illegible] less further [illegible] were imposed on government expenditures. He recommended that Congress [illegible] more revenue by imposing [illegible] taxes.

MILLS' CRITICISM

One of Mills' chief criticisms was that the House bill tended to converge the major part of the new tax burden upon capital actively engaged in business and tended to discourage the normal flow of capital into industry. He asserted:

"What we want to accomplish is to break down the vicious circle of deflation of credit industrial stagnation, falling prices and loss of purchasing power. To put men to work capital must go to work. Credit must be sought and freely offered. But capital must see some chance of profit to compensate for the risk. Business men will not borrow and banks will not lend unless enterprise offers some fair prospect of return."

Mills recommended a 13 per cent corporation tax which was estimated to yield $69,000,000 next year. Individual taxes should net $184,000,000 with exemptions of $2,500 for married and $1,000 for single persons at normal rates of 2, 4 and 6 per cent and surtax rates beginning at incomes of $6,000.

POSTAL RATES

Mills recommended increased postal rates to raise $150,000,000 and contemplated a $118,000,000 reduction in expenditures. Other important items of receipts included $165,000,000 from the gasoline tax, $100,000,000 from the automobile tax and $110,000,000 from the admissions tax.

The Senate's tax experts had a rocky road to travel. Some of them want to follow Mills' original recommendation for a manufacturer's sales tax in order to lighten the heavy burden being placed on specified industries. Others oppose the general sales tax, but insist on maintaining the excises which are really a selective sales tax.

The hearings begun with Mills' appearance will be continued for the next two weeks. Representatives of the automobile, jewelry and candy industries will protest vigorously against the heavy tolls exacted on their commodities. Their cry will be to impose a general sales tax or else to slash the particular tax placed on their own products.

'SMOKES' GIVEN FOR NEEDY

More than a ton of tobacco of all shapes and forms was on hand at Syria Mosque today. Cigarets, cigars, pipe and chewing tobacco to be distributed to needy men by the Helping Hand committee formed the admission tickets for a special meeting held by the Shriners last night.

Potentate Karl R. Hammers and Recorder James W. Barber expressed surprise at the quantities and variety of the contributions, estimated at more than $1,000 in value.

A business discussion, vaudeville and movies featured the meeting.

'Attack on Couzens Answered in House

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Representative Clancy (Rep.) of Michigan, in a speech inserted in the Congressional Record today, denied statements made by Representative Blanton (Dem.) of Texas, that Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan had "invested nearly $100,000,000 in tax exempt securities and pays nothing in the way of income tax."

The assertions "are untrue," Clancy said, adding that Senator Couzens is probably the most public spirited and philanthropic among all the millionaires of the country.

ORDER ARRESTS IN SHANGHAI

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Universal Service.

SHANGHAI, April 6.—Charging that Japan is attempting to establish a puppet government in Shanghai just as it did in Manchuria, Mayor Wu Te-Chen today ordered the arrest of members of the "Citizens' Self-Governing Bureau" in the battle-torn Chapei district.

Chapei is still under Japanese control. The "Citizens' Self-Governing Bureau" has announced itself as functioning independent of the Shanghai municipal administration. Wu charges that four Japanese head its executive department.

A Japanese spokesman yesterday denied the Mayor's charges and stated that the Japanese military are ignorant of the new governing body.

CHINESE CITIES HIT BY QUAKE

SHANGHAI, April 6.—(AP)—An earthquake which lasted several seconds shook the cities of Hankow and Nanking this evening.

There were no reports immediately available of the number of casualties and the extent of the damage.

Nanking and Hankow, both on the winding Yangtze River, are 250 miles apart in a straight line. Many of the Chinese government officials are still at Nanking, although the actual capital was transferred to Loyang when the fighting was most serious in the Shanghai area.

Hankow, 600 miles from the sea, is one of the Chinese treaty ports on the river and also one of the largest cities in the country. Its population is estimated at more than 850,000.

WISCONSIN GOES TO ROOSEVELT

Associated Press.

An exceedingly heavy Democratic vote in Wisconsin, normal Republican stronghold, was a conspicuous development of presidential primary voting yesterday in the western state and in New York.

The forces of Franklin D. Roosevelt won by a landslide in Wisconsin over an uninstructed ticket favorable to Alfred E. Smith. They also carried against a Smith slate the one contest in New York state in the Buffalo district. All other delegates were chosen without opposition, the upstate men generally favoring the Governor, the Tammany block uncommitted.

The Hoover ticket walked away in New York's Republican primary marked by only two district contests. However, conservative G. O. P. forces in Wisconsin apparently were beaten once again by the Progressives under the La Follettes. The La Follette delegates favor Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, for President, while the unpledged conservatives have given "tacit approval" to the Hoover administration.

In municipal and township elections in Illinois, Democrats stormed Republican strongholds, taking Cicero, Chicago suburb and one-time Capone base, for the first time in 16 years.

Milwaukee re-elected the Socialist mayor since 1916, Daniel W. Hoan, in a sweep of offices which gave him the greatest triumph of his career.

LONDON, April 6.—(AP)—The imperial crown which King George wears on state occasions has returned from the cleaner's an inch higher than when it was sent away.

Since it was made for Queen Victoria in 1839, it had sunk and become so insecure that it might not have retained its shape if worn much longer. In the reblocking process each of its 3,000 jewels was taken out and polished and some new gold was added so that it would not sink again.

PUNXSUTAWNEY DARK TONIGHT IN RATE WAR

Councilman Stand Firm in Banning of Street Lights Until Charges Are Cut

The campaign against public utility rates was scheduled to develop new strategy tonight in Punxsutawney, where all street lights in that town were to be darkened by order of its Council.

Councilman Clarence Murray, chairman of the light and water committee, said:

"We may have been a little hasty in our decision to turn off the street lights of this city, but now that the decision is made, we are going through with it."

STAND FIRM IN WAR

Councilman W. F. Smith, who sponsored the move, said:

"We have the backing of the businessmen of town and are not bluffing. We are going to get lower light rates in Punxsutawney or do without lights."

H. C. Fleming, superintendent of the Associated Gas and Electric Company, said no change of street lighting rates for this city was considered at this time, but added if a new rate was given, it would affect hundreds of towns in Pennsylvania and have to be approved by the Public Service Commission.

TRUCE IN JOHNSTOWN

In Johnstown, where Mayor Eddie McCloskey threatened to climb a ladder and extinguish the lights himself, there appeared to be a truce. The Associated Gas and Electric Company promised the city a saving by reducing the candlepower of street lights from 1,500 to 600-candlepower, McCloskey said, although he insisted he would continue to battle for a substantial reduction in rates.

In Sayre borough, Council warned the same utility company that it must cut its rates when a new five-year contract goes into effect April 20.

REGISTRATION ARRESTS LOOM

Arrest of a half dozen persons, one of them said to be a woman, loomed today as the District Attorney's office examined evidence of alleged fraudulent registrations in the Thirty-first Ward, unearthed by the Registration Board's probe.

First Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt and Harry R. Phillips, indictment expert, today were scrutinizing testimony of 25 persons before the Registration Board that they had voted last fall on affidavits stating that they had lost their tax receipts and admitting later that they never had any receipts.

Instead of perjury proceedings against the 25 who voted illegally, some of them Negroes and others presumably tools of higherups, the prosecutor's office was said to contemplate informations against the ringleaders.

Warrants will be issued tonight or tomorrow by an alderman, according to indications today.

UTILITIES VAGUE ON RATE LEAK

HARRISBURG, April 6.—(INS.)—Officials of the Pennsylvania Electric Associaflon asserted here today they were completely ignorant of how a confidential questionnaire, prepared by the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association for submission to legislative candidates, came into their possession.

The 13 questions, designed to record the views of candidates on the question of revision of public utility laws, had been known only to members of the executive committee of the Rate Association, according to A. B. Davidson, of Tarentum, its president.

The questionnaire, in its entirety, was published last Friday in the Weekly Bulletin of the Electric Association. W. H. Wade, president of the Electric Association, at Altoona, said a copy of the questionnaire was given to him by someone in the offices at Harrisburg."

Harold Buch, who edits the Weekly Bulletin, and admitted including the 13 utility questions, said he "did not know how the questionnaire ever came to the office," but "thought it came by mail."

'Peace' Preachers In Army Assailed

COUNCIL CALLS RATE PARLEY

Whether the city shall accept or reject the meager domestic electric light rate reduction offered by the Duquesne Light Company after protests by civic organizations and councilmen that present schedules were too high, may be decided at a conference Friday.

Council today ordered City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to report his recommendations on the case at 10 a. m., Friday. The Duquesne Light Company offer was made more than a month ago.

Waldschmidt told Council last night his delay in reporting back his findings on the company's offer was due to difficulties encountered in securing schedules in effect in other cities.

Frank R. Phillips, president of the utilities organization, made a reduction schedule offer which would cut household rates about 10 cents per month. Small cuts in fares on the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company buses also were offered.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang yesterday said Council may have the Duquesne Company's answer to its demand for a 20 per cent cut in street lighting costs. The demand for a reduction was made at a conference last week. The new contract, which would run for a five-year term, is being held up by Lang pending an answer. More than $800,000 is paid annually by the city to the utilities organizations.

PINCHOT GIVES PROGRAM ON UTILITIES

Lists Legislative Plans In Speech for Butler; Mum on P. S. C. Control

KITTANNING, April 6.—Outlining an eight point program of utility legislation, which he will submit to the 1933 meeting of the General Assembly, Gov. Pinchot appeared to have dropped insistence that the executive department be given the right to hire and fire members of the Public Service Commission without interference or advice from the State Senate.

No mention was made of this controversial question, over which the Governor and the Legislature split in 1931, the deadlock causing the blockade of practically all remedial public utility legislation.

SPEAKS FOR BUTLER

The Governor spoke here in behalf of the candidacy of Gen. Smedley D. Butler for the United States Senate, Ralph Flinn for Auditor General, and Judge Joseph Stadtfeld for the Superior Court. The candidates were on the platform with him, having spoken previously in Indiana, where the Governor inaugurated his denunciation of utilities.

In his legislative program the Governor would prohibit increases in rates until after hearing by the Public Service Commission, permit municipalities to condemn and purchase utilities, place the costs of rate cases on the utility, make a state appropriation for engineers to assist municipalities in fixing valuations, provide approval of utility securities by the Public Service Commission, limit the life of utility franchises to 50 years, give jurisdiction over holding companies, facilitate rural electrification.

In his Indiana speech as well as here, and in an address scheduled for the afternoon in Butler, the Governor charged utilities had made excessive profits in 1930, naming the West Penn Power Company and the Pennsylvania Electric. This excess was earned, he said, despite the fact that the West Penn is giving a rate lower than any other privately owned utility in the state.

AID TO UNDERNOURISHED

The money taken from consumers above a fair rate of 7 per cent, he said, could have been used to provide for undernourished children in Indiana, Armstrong and Butler counties.

He cited the expense to which the boroughs of Apollo and Leechburg were put in fighting cases against water companies before the Public Service Commission, and charged the commission was not on guard to protect the rights of consumers. At the same time he cited the profits of municipally-operated utilities, which had lower rates than privately-conducted plants, both power and water.

In Armstrong County, he charged, the telephone company, privately owned, earned 19 per cent on its investment in 1930.

In view of the fall of all commodity prices, the Governor asserted that utilities should be reducing rates substantially.

The speeches of the Governor on his tour with Butler, Flinn and Judge Stadtfeld indicated an effort would be made to make utilities and relief the chief issues of the campaign against Senator James J. Davis and Frank Baldwin, organization candidates for United States Senator and Auditor General, subordinating the prohibition question.

The Governor will speak in New Castle, Franklin and Erie tomorrow with the Independent Republican candidates.

Davis Called 'Exemplar Of Selfishness, Futility'

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(AP)—Senator James J. Davis was described by former Judge Arthur C. Dale, chairman of the Independent Republican committee, last night as "probably the greatest exemplar of selfishness and futility this state has ever elected" to the United States Senate.

Dale's committee is sponsoring Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler in his campaign for election to Davis' seat.

Dale, in a radio speech for Butler, charged Davis with regarding the senatorship as a "job with a fat pay check," not as a means of serving the people.

He called Butler "not only a heroic fighter, but a great administrator and a master diplomat."

DARROW LAYING GROUNDWORK TO JUSTIFY 'HONOR' KILLING

USES CAUTION IN SELECTING JURORS

Defense Will Resist All Attempts to Exclude 'Unwritten Law' Angle

L. GILBERT PARKER
International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 6.—The defense of Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, American society matron charged, with three compatriots, with the "honor killing" of a native, will resist to the last ditch the prosecution's efforts to pledge jurymen not to consider related phases of the case.

This announcement was made today by Clarence Darrow, gray-haired veteran who heads the battery of lawyers seeking to have Mrs. Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and Albert S. Jones and E. J. Lord, two naval enlisted men, from serving life terms for the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai.

Darrow made it plain that every effort will be made to bring into open court details of the attack of five half-castes on Mrs. Thalia Massie, daughter of Mrs. Fortescue and wife of Lieut. Massie.

CAREFUL SELECTIONS

The task of selecting a polygot jury is going forward with the greatest care, for it is in the naming of a jury that Darrow will lay the foundations of his probable defense of justifiable homicide to wipe clean the slate of a woman's honor.

The prosecution, headed by John C. Kelley, insisted from the outset of the case on Monday that it will seek to conduct the trial on the simple issue of murder, with no extraneous issues.

Several times Darrow has cautiously lifted the curtain on the grim tropical drama sufficiently to reveal in a general way how he proposes to develop his defense.

That it will be the "unwritten law," based on a premise of justifiable homicide, seems a foregone conclusion.

DARROW HANDICAPPED

Darrow has been on strange ground when he sought to appraise the oriental mind as it came under questioning for jury service, but in every instance a tactful handling of the situation has seemingly won sympathy for his side.

It was conceded that with white jurymen the veteran defender at so many criminal trials would be at his best, but that the jury will be polyglot seems almost assured. As the trial swung into its third day there were six Caucasians, five Orientals and one Portuguese in the box.

Each side has used three peremptory challenges and each has 21 more with which to play a game of give and take in an effort to secure a favorable jury.

Trouble in Hawaii Likely, Senate Warned

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS.)—Trial of the Fortescue murder case and prospective retrial of the infamous Ala Moana criminal attack case in Honolulu will embroil the "people of the territory of Hawaii in most unpleasant circumstances," Assistant United States Attorney General Seth W. Richardson warned the Senate in his report, made public today.

Richardson declared the Hawaiians would take sides in both cases and, regardless of the verdict in either, "it will not be surprising if a condition of racial antagonism, resentments and, possibly, demonstrations should result."

In spite of this outlook, Richardson said the court must carry out its duties.

Anzac Major Fined In Anti-Red Row

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 6.—(AP.)—Maj. De Groot, once of the Royal Hussars, was fined £5 today for "maliciously damaging the ceremonial ribbon and threatening a police officer" when the new Sydney Harbor Bridge was dedicated on March 19.

It was De Groot, said to be a member of the anti-Communist "New Guard," who galloped through the group of officials in top hats just before the ceremony began, and slashed the ribbon with his sword.

more than 65 years. His body is stopped and his neck is bent as though already broken by the gallows which he fears.

PLEA FOR LIFE

"Pauletta is not a man fitted for the gallows, and his punishment, if death, would create horror and not respect for the law."

Ben Smith, Constable of Bethel Township, who arrested Pauletta, testified to the man's life in Coverdale, where he lived under the name Louis Ross and reared his family. He said he had heard of "no trouble in which Pauletta was involved.

Although Mrs. Pauletta made no statement to the Governor, she in reply to questions verified a previous statement she had made denying her husband had mistreated her.

The Governor made no comment other than to point out that previously he had announced his intention to grant relief.

Somewhere in West Virginia is another member of the Pauletta family. He is, by birth, John Pauletta, but his name today is not known. John Pauletta is 20 years old now and it is not likely that he knows his father is the Frank Pauletta for whose liberty prominent people are waging a fight.

PLACED IN HOME

John Pauletta was taken from his mother 18 years ago and placed in a home in Elkins, W. Va.

Another member of the Pauletta family, Mrs. Angelina Pauletta Yank, the oldest child, married and now living at Clarksburg, joined Mrs. Pauletta at Clarksburg last night. They had been separated 18 years. When Frank Pauletta was first sentenced to die 18 years ago, Mrs. Pauletta was left with the children. Relatives took Angelina and social workers took John to the home at Elkins.

This story of the broken family and of the lost son was told to Judge Musmanno by Pauletta in the Moundsville Penitentiary yesterday.

EASE MEDICAL LIQUOR CURB, DRYS URGE

Doran and Woodcock Favor Lifting of Time Limit On Rum for Patient

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP.)—A proposed amendment to the Volstead act eliminating the 10-day limit on the frequency of medicinal whisky prescriptions for a single patient was indorsed today by Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol.

He told a House committee that during his experience as prohibition enforcement officer, the present limitation as to the time that a doctor may prescribe liquor for a patient had been the subject of greatest criticism from the medical profession. This limitation is one pint in 10 days. Doran testified:

"With respect to the frequency of prescribing for any one patient, I believe that the statutory limitation should be withdrawn. I do not believe we should lose control of the number of prescriptions and the quantity that may be prescribed."

Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of the Prohibition Bureau, also approved removal of the statutory limitation, as did Dr. Warren Coleman, spokesman for the New York Academy of Medicine and the Medical Society of the County of New York.

Removal of all statutory limitations on the prescribing of medicinal whisky was urged by Dr. William C. Woodward for the American Medical Association.

A number of bills to accomplish this purpose impend, as well as a measure by Representative Goss (Rep.), of Connecticut, to legalize the prescribing of malt liquors.

Limitations on prescriptions is "a prohibition on the patient rather than the physician," Woodward said.

DECISION NEAR ON TALBOT BILL

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(INS.)—A decision on the legality of the Talbot $10,000,000 relief act is anticipated here tomorrow, when justices of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court meet in a consultation.

The conference will be held in the tribunal's suite in City Hall here.

Approved by both branches of the Legislature, the bill was opposed by both Gov. Gifford Pinchot and Attorney General William Schnader, who declared the bill unconstitutional.

The bill appropriated $10,000,000 in state funds for direct relief among needy citizens of the state in food, clothing, shelter and fuel.

Word that the justices of the Supreme Court at tomorrow's meeting will discuss the Talbot Bill came simultaneously with the announcement that the Philadelphia Committee on Unemployment Relief, of which Horatio G. Lloyd is chairman, expects to discontinue its relief work in this city among 60,000 families because of exhausted funds.

HYMIE ASSURED NEW TRIAL

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—(AP.)—By refusing to review the action of the Appellate Court, the State Supreme Court today ruled that Hymie Martin, of Pittsburgh, convicted of the murder of former Councilman William E. Potter, of Cleveland, is entitled to a new trial.

Martin, serving a life term, was convicted as the lessee of the East Side suite where Potter was found shot to death in February, 1931. Betty Gray, an occupant of the same building, was the state's chief witness against Martin. Since then she has repudiated her testimony and disappeared.

Martin was arrested in Pittsburgh and spirited back to Cleveland by detectives. He was convicted of first-degree murder, but the jury recommended mercy.

CITY, COUNTY SALARY SLASH DEMANDED

Building Owners, Managers Adopt Resolution Calling For 20 Pct. Pay Reduction

A resolution recommending a 20 per cent wage cut by May 1 for all city, county and school employes was adopted today at a luncheon meeting of the Pittsburgh Building Owners' and Managers' Association.

Such a reduction is necessary to prevent a serious deficit for 1932 in the city, county and school budgets, the resolution contends. Where salaries are fixed by law, it was suggested that employes be asked to take a voluntary reduction pending the law's amendment.

SUBWAY ACTION

The association also adopted resolutions pertaining to the downtown subway, the proposed $5,000,000 bond issue for unemployment relief and the project of flood walls and river terminals on the Monongahela River.

The resolution on the bond issue reads in part:

"The Building Owners' and Managers' Association opposes the $5,000,000 bond issue which has been proposed unless the $5,000,000 is utilized in a definite improvement project, such as building of wharves and river terminals or some other project which may be of some direct benefit to taxpayers and the general public, and which may be capable of carrying the bond interest."

The subway resolutions expressed to Council opposition to subway construction before a definite contract shall have been made with the Pittsburgh Railways Company for a term of years at a stipulated yearly rental. It asked that the Philadelphia Company guarantee rentals of the railways company.

FLOOD WALLS

The proposed flood walls and river terminals on the Monongahela River were indorsed. It was suggested also that this work be extended to include the Allegheny frontages. The project was approved because it should provide labor, and also bring in sufficient revenue to carry the bond interest.

It was also suggested that thought be given to setting up proper rental charges for terminal facilities and that the parking charge on the wharves be increased to 20 cents a day after improvement of facilities.

She is Mrs. Gertrude Bauer. The friend is Samuel Brudder, of 1114 Tennessee avenue. Both were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

Police Chief Ralph Miller reported that Mrs. Bauer had told him she poured poison into a glass, lifted it to her lips and shouted to Brudder that she would end her life.

After she had swallowed a small portion, Brudder knocked the glass from her hand, then called police, Miller said.

In the hospital today Mrs. Bauer, mother of a 12-year-old daughter, said:

GLORIA AND NEW INFANT GIRL DOING WELL

Daughter Born to Screen Star and Irish Husband At Home in London

LONDON, April 6.—(AP.)—Gloria Swanson and her husband, Michael Farmer, wealthy Irish sportsman, were getting acquainted today with a new daughter, born last night at their home on Farm street, in the fashionable Mayfair section of London.

The noted film actress and the baby were both very well, Farmer said. The baby was born a few hours after the parents had moved into their new home from the hotel where they had been living since they came to London several weeks ago.

SECOND DAUGHTER

It is Miss Swanson's second daughter. Her first child, Gloria, daughter of her second husband, Herbert Somborn, film executive of Chicago and California, was born 10 years ago. She also has an adopted daughter.

She and Farmer were secretly married at Elmsford, N. Y., last August. Their wedding was not announced until November 6, when it was disclosed by the officials who issued the license and performed the ceremony.

They had another ceremony at Yuma, Ariz., on November 9, after Miss Swanson's decree of divorce from the Marquis De La Falaise De La Coudraye, her third husband, became final. Miss Swanson's first husband was Wallace Beery, motion picture actor.

UNDECIDED ON NAME

The proud father told friends who called to congratulate him:

"She is a fine baby, with blue eyes like her mother, and dark hair. We have not decided what to call her, but, as she is like her mother, she may be named Gloria. My wife stood the ordeal bravely and could not be better."

The house on Farm street just occupied by the Farmers was rented from Viscountess Furness, the former Mrs. Thelma Morgan Converse, daughter of Harry Hays Morgan, former American consul at Buenos Aires.

Grove City Alumni To Meet April 15

The Grove City College Alumni will hold a reunion in the Smithfield Grill, April 15.

M'DONALD RAPS LAWRENCE

G. Malcolm McDonald, candidate for Democratic county chairman in the primary election this month, today charged that County Chairman David L. Lawrence, seeking re-election, had not observed the party rules for 10 years.

McDonald pointed out that meetings of the county committee were intended for governance of the party, but that Lawrence had not called such a meeting since 1922. He said:

"Is this because he does not have confidence in the intelligence of his fellow-Democrats, or because he has found it more expedient to himself? It is small wonder that thousands of Democrats have left the local party and are enrolled in the Republican ranks."

COUNTY AUDITS INSURANCE

Because the Southern Surety Company of New York has been taken over by the insurance commissioner of that state, County Commissioners have authorized Main and Company to check claims against the county covered by the company's insurance.

All the county's claims under Southern policies will have to go through the New York insurance commissioner.

Payment of $7,770.43 due the Pennsylvania Underwriters on premiums was ordered withheld by the Commissioners until its liability is finally determined. Boyd Ewer, political associate of the late Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, was head of the local office of the Southern Surety Company.

Medical Body Backs Spann for Assembly

Representative Max J. Spann, seeking re-election to the Legislature from the Fifth District, has been indorsed by the Public Health Legislation Committee of the Allegheny County Medical Society.

Announcement by the committee in the Pittsburgh Medical Bulletin stated the committee believed the society owed an indorsement to Spann for his past co-operation in support of proper medical legislation, as well as his pledge for continued support.

Would Liberalize Compensation Law

Liberalization of the provisions of the workmen's compensation law is advocated by Harold Lavine, candidate for the Legislature from the First District, comprising the First, Third and Fifth wards.

Among changes in the law he proposes are: Medical care for an indefinite period; allowance for medical expense where the injured man is able to work; allowance for disfigurement; extension of time for reporting certain injuries; compensation for occupational diseases not now allowed; payment of compensation until petition for termination.

Women said:
You can't speed up washing without a washing machine
BUT they hadn't tried the New Oxydol
● Of course a washing machine saves you work. But even if you haven't one, washing doesn't need to be the back-breaking job it used to be.
The New Oxydol floats dirt out safely in 15 minutes. Sprinkle it in your washtub and you'll understand. It makes 50% more suds—richer, quicker, longer-lasting suds.
That's why this mild soap can save you so much work and time — its extra suds take the place of rubbing — they soak dirt out of clothes and hold it out—they never collapse and let the dirt fall back—they never ball up or leave a scum.
Try the New Oxydol. See how much it lightens all your housework — how easy it is on hands. It makes rich, clean-smelling suds in any water — and all water hardens when you add dirty clothes or dishes.

RADIO CHIEFS ARRIVE FOR INSTITUTE

Robertson to Greet World Delegates; City's Place In Industry Emphasized

Pittsburgh's distinction as the birthplace of radio broadcasting was further enhanced today with the arrival of radio experts from all parts of the world to attend the twentieth annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers. The convention will continue through Saturday.

The first session will be held tomorrow in the William Penn Hotel, convention headquarters.

Mr. Robertson

Delegates will be welcomed at a luncheon meeting by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

S. M. Kintner, vice president of the Westinghouse company, will speak on "Pittsburgh's Contribution to Radio Development" at a meeting tomorrow night.

Several Pittsburgh radio men will attend the institute, including I. E. Mouromtseff, H. V. Noble, G. R. Kilgore, H. N. Kozanowski, P. B. Taylor, J. A. Hutchinson, V. E. Trouant and R. L. Davis.

INSPECTION TRIP

The entertainment program includes an inspection trip through the Carnegie Steel Works and the Westinghouse Research Laboratories tomorrow afternoon; visit to the Springdale mine and the West Penn Power Company plant and the Research Laboratories of the Aluminum Company of America Friday afternoon, and a trip to the transmitting plant of KDKA at Saxonburg Saturday afternoon.

Walter G. Cady is president of the institute and Edward V. Appleton is vice president.

PRINTING FIRM WELCOMES BIDS

The William G. Johnston Company welcomes the decision of County Commissioners to put the election printing on a competitive basis, in a letter read at the Commissioners' meeting yesterday. The letter, signed by William A. Shields, president, said:

"We would prefer to see the printing placed on the open market because that we understand that our company has been accused by the head of the Elections Bureau of having charged too much for the work.

"In the many years that we have been in business this is the first instance where our honesty and integrity has been questioned."

Director of Elections John W. Vickerman several weeks ago expressed the opinion the Johnston company was charging too much for the county's printing.

HEAR PROTESTS ON TRUCK LINE

Protests were heard yesterday by Examiner W. E. Best of the Public Service Commission on the application of the Motor Freight Express Company of Harrisburg, which seeks permission to operate a motor truck service between Pittsburgh and Reading.

The West Penn Railways Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company filed a protest, the latter claiming such a service would be unfair competition to the railroads.

Mt. Lebanon Church Women to Meet

PITT WEEKLY'S POLICY SCORED

Students at Pitt are denouncing the editorial policy of the Pitt Weekly, school paper, because neither the Communist nor the Socialist parties was recognized on a straw ballot printed in its current issue.

Leaders in the attack are Gertrude Slomberg, Frank Yellig, Marjorie Hanson, Margaret Rodger, and Dorothy Brinley. Yellig, member of Student Council, said:

"The editorial policy of the Weekly shows intellectual cowardice, in omitting the Communist and Socialist presidential candidates. I feel sure that they would have drawn a significant vote."

The nominating ballot printed in the Weekly contained only the names of Republican and Democratic aspirants.

Gertrude Slomberg, who said she was a Communist, declared:

"It was very cheap of the Weekly not to print the other two parties. But perhaps the university is more to blame than the Weekly for stifling student opinion."

TUBE TRAFFIC OFFICER FIRED

A county police officer known as "Scarface" Meyers is out of a job today because, it was alleged, he used abusive language to a motorist who had tire trouble in the Liberty tunnels.

According to a letter from C. W. Steeb, read at the Commissioners' meeting yesterday, he was cursed by the policeman March 15 when he wanted to hold up traffic to remove a tire that had gone flat in the tubes. Steeb's letter said he was forced to ruin a good tire and tube by running through the tunnels on the flat tire.

Director of Property and Supplies Ray Sprigle commented:

"The quicker the Commissioners reorganize this police department the better it will be for all concerned."

On the motion of Commissioner W. D. Mansfield, seconded by Chairman C. M. Barr, Meyers was ordered summarily dismissed.

The "Find"

Why the name? Because almost every woman who has seen it has said, "I'm so glad to find something a bit different in a jacket dress!"

It is different because the top of the frock is of a very new, novelty cravat silk, and because the silk goes farther and also forms revers and sleeve facings.

Listening In-

—With the Radio Editor—

MUSIC BY 25 ORCHESTRAS is brought to radio listeners tonight in a single program when Station WWSW broadcasts the Pittsburgh Musical Society's Dance and Vaudeville Show from Syria Mosque.

Miss Winkle

The program is on the air at three different periods—from 8 to 8:30; from 9:30 to 10, and concluding with a four-hour broadcast from 11 p. m. to 3 a. m. A different band goes before the microphone each 20 minutes. The music is continuous from two platforms at either end of the huge hall. The 25 orchestras are believed to set a new record for a single program, at least for Pittsburgh. In addition, prominent stage and radio stars are heard.

The Mosque show, being given for the benefit of the unemployed musicians, has been preceded by numerous broadcasts from every radio station in the city during the last several weeks. Malcolm E. Johnston is president of the musical society; Izzy Cervone is general chairman of the show; Miss Virginia Kuhn, ticket chairman, and Miss Beata Winkle, chairman of the hostess committee.

This is Army Day and radio joins in the celebration. The United States Army Band gives a special concert over WJAS at 10:15 a. m. from its barracks in Washington. Tonight, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, Senator Simeon D. Fess and Senator David A. Reed speak over WCAE at 10:30 under the auspices of the Military Order of the World War and the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. The Army Band is also heard in this program from the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, featuring the "George Washington Bicentennial March," composed by the late John Philip Sousa.

Program Pointers

Grace Moore, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, presents another program of operatic arias, musical comedy hits and other popular songs over WCAE tonight at 9 . . . Miss Moore, incidentally, is one of the few actresses who has appeared in four versions of the same motion picture . . . She starred in the English, French, Spanish and Italian releases of "New Moon" . . . Tonight she featured on the same program with the Revelers and David Mendoza's concert orchestra.

Miss Moore

Baroness d'Estreillie, fashion leader of New York and Paris, is interviewed by Allie Lowe Miles on the Bath Club program over WJAS at 8.

DeWolf Hopper, the famous veteran actor, recites the poem he made famous years ago, "Casey at the Bat," when he is interviewed by Grantland Rice over WCAE at 10.

Ward Wilson, the radio impersonator, duplicates Walter Damrosch's characteristic speech when he announces the program of the Royal Vagabonds over KDKA at 6:30.

Radio speakers in behalf of the "Family-Help-Family" campaign today are F. J. Chesterman, of the Bell Telephone Company, over KQV at 6:15; the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day over WJAS at 5; Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr on KDKA at 8:30, and the Rev. J. J. Callahan, of Duquesne University, over WCAE at 2:25.

Don Bestor and his orchestra present a half-hour program of dance music from Motor Square Garden over WWSW at 7.

Fan Fare

HELEN MORGAN, who found a seat on top of a piano one day and made the pose a characteristic one of the American stage, is featured in the second production of Ziegfeld's Radio Show Sunday night . . . Miss Morgan has been starred in several "Follies" and was a headliner in "Showboat" . . . Ralph Federer, the fair-haired pianist of WCAE, heard his song, "One Little Hour," played on the organ for the first time yesterday, unexpectedly . . . Twice he was disappointed when he went to a downtown theater to hear it played, because of program cuts. Yesterday he was surprised to hear the song coming over the air from WCAE, played from Heinz Auditorium . . . "Tickled pink" was the reported reaction.

Man About Town

The James Halls (Sally Starr) are Bannister-Harding it—with Grant Withers runner-up. . . . Bills and Helen Glason are telling it to a Chicago judge. . . . The George Lawrences of the Long Island social sector are having it Paris'd. . . . Preston Chiln of Manhattan Sturges is on the high seas Paree-bound to cry it out with Eleanor Hutton parted from him by her tribe. . . . It's a lad over at the Walter Joyces. . . . The cello player in the St. Moritz cafe is the Prince of Arabia—meaning nothing to the Musicians Union which is plotting to have him replaced by an unemployed Yankee. . . . The D. B. Allens (Gladys Parker) after all that fun are seeing their attorneys.

Aside to Mrs. T. I. Perkins of Dallas, Tex.: Your daughter Dorothy is O. and well. . . . Betty Read new henna-haired is a Ziegfeld girl—sign again. . . . Stokowski the Philadelphia baton-juggler practices all those wild gestures before a mirror. . . . The New York Philharmonic is having a headache about next season's menu—money trouble. . . . The Vincent Clarks and the Merritt Frankens are blessed-eventing. . . . Blackberries of 1932 is a revusical (they) think) a new vogue in sensible prices—$1.00. . . . The various department stores which outfitted the Carroll Theater will rig it up right, unless. . . . The Dodie Conway-Peggy Barnum blaze is beyond control. . . . Kiki Roberts' real heart commutes from Phila.

McClellan Barclay, the illustrator of the prettiest jews in the mags canceled his bride's Warner contract and shifted to MGM because they wouldn't permit him to canvas her. . . . Peter Rogers is back from Paris where he contributed his bankroll to the Sonia Phalle beauty salon. . . . W. W. Scott and the ex-Charles Dana Gibson may have parted with Norman Anthony being his new order-giver. . . . Lauritz Melchior, the German canary, and Greta Ljungberg are feuding at the Met with Greta singing with her back to him. Yet they are paired in "Tristan and Isolde" which contains more torrid love scenes than any other opera.

Johnny "Tarzan" Weissmuller arrives here on the 16th alone with the bride remaining on the coast—to show her contempt for the local opposition. . . . The "Crazy Quilt" producer sent the Minneapolis Mayor a dozen roses for blackballing his show—and helping to jam the doors at every performance across the way in St. Paul. . . . The April fools here sent out thousands of invites to a "new salon" at 6 W. 50th which is a high excavation in Radio City—enticing numerous chumps who forgot what day it was. . . . Frances Stewart has swapped M. Garner for I. Vale. . . . "Band Wagon" with all its raves lost $17,000 here.

An orchid to "One Hour With You" in which La MacDonald spanks Le Chevalier's face almost 20 times. . . . An orchid to the Friars for honoring J. Cunningham next Saturday eve.—he rates it. . . . A scallion to the phonies who sell their illegal places "up front" in the Times Sq. breadline for a coin—of all things! . . . A scallion to those who are plotting a cafe for the top-hats in Prospect Park, when free milk stations for babies would be a handsomer decoration. . . . An orchid to Al E. Smith for the sanest of the speeches on 4 per cent beer. . . . An orchid to Lupe Velez and her mimicry of the wise-crackers in "Hot Cha" and a scallion to the pirates of Rose of Washington Sq.—now a hit under another name.

Add Casualties of Broadway—the Equity Ticket Brokerage—which at one time peddled more ducats at a premium than its rivals. . . . Liveright has accepted "Hot Air," an expose of radio stars patterned after the "Queer People" manner from the pens of A. Zuesmith and J. Wald. . . . If politics can be "handled," foreign liners will open their salons and dining rooms for locals while in port. . . . The Walter Stewarts (Ellen Allen) will be blessed in July. . . . Jane Adams of the J. Malin choir has composer trouble. . . . The midnight matinee ended an hour too soon at the Palace Satdee when the stars clashed temperaments.

The reason Will Morrissey's "The Crooner" revusical was retarded two days by Equity was the discovery of the great depreciation in the angel's bonds. . . . The "4th Little Show" is still an idea—Fred Allen holding up his decision. . . . The Jessel-Burns & Allen and Lillian Roth combination will repeat at the Paramount here next week for two reasons—one being that acts are not plentiful, and because one presumes it entices trade. . . . Officials of the late Bank of United States now brave the states and "looks" of victims in the Longacre places. . . . Dorothy Dell and Kenneth (NBC) Dolan have resumed headaches. . . . The Countess Prassoni-Gary Cooper laugh is now a titter. . . . Buddy Rogers talked to his Hollywoodarling for an hour and six minutes yesterdawning. . . . Murrell Finles is back in circulation.

One of the just-as-famous-as Vallee crooners and his bride are fading. . . . Gilbert Miller, the producer, cleaned up on Sterling in Britain. . . . William A. Brady, Sr., will run for Congress from his home sector, he tells intimates. . . . Vilma Lewis and I. Friede, who braved matters during Mrs. Friede's war, are trousseau-shopping. . . . Eddie Cantor's portrait was barred at the last moment from that 22 E. 55th St. exhibition. Why?

Armand and Madeline Kaliz want the world to know that it isn't so! . . . That beautiful friendship of Sloan Youns and Marie Conkwright is slowly rotting into love. . . . The William Kendall-Louise Brooks Cupiding is aw gawn. . . . Gloria Shea is being adored by Harold Mackey, the Dartmouth athlete. . . . Corliss Lamont, son of the renowned banker, did a piece for a radical mag on "The Mooney Case" and argued that there could be no hope for social justice until "Capitalism is completely smashed." . . . On ye morrowe ye boxe officers of ye olde Alvin seat shoppe will begin ye public sale of two on ye aisle and elsewhere to those who will be next week's guests of "Grand Hotel," the Vicki Baum play that will bring Eugenie Leontovich to the Sixth street stage next week for the customary nice and mat shows. Second to Miss Leontovich in the cast is Sam Jaffe, an obscure actor who has achieved fame in the role of the sickly clerk who is determined to crowd a lifetime of "life" into his final few weeks.

"The Gondoliers," one of the numerous works of the well known Mr. Gilbert and the noted Mr. Sullivan, will be presented at quarter after eight this evening (also same hour and minute tomorrow evening) in Carnegie Music Hall. Tech's music and dramatic departments have combined to make it an institutional event. Customers who aid in making it lucrative shall have the satisfaction of knowing that their jack is to be a fund for the aid of deserving students in these two departments. Kick in folks—remember the good shows the dram studes have given you free gratis, for nothin' in Tech's fine Little Theater! Mellor's, Wood street, has ducats.

Flush, Elizabeth Barrett's spaniel in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," playing in the Alvin, is such a good actor that he caused the humane officer to visit Mr. George Young, manager of the Alvin, yesterday. He said there was a complaint the dog appeared to be drugged. That's how good an actor he is. If they pick him up or toss him onto the sofa he stays put. But at the final curtain, when all the human stars are taking their bows, Flush is as lively as any of them while taking his. Nothing dopey about him then.

"Show Boat," one of Ziegfeld's greatest musical hits, is to be revived, and rehearsals will begin just as soon as the old master is well enough to supervise. Jerome Kern and Oscar Hamerstein will prepare additional musical numbers for it. . . . 'SCREEN TALK -:- What's Going on Here And in Hollywood -:- STAGE NOTES

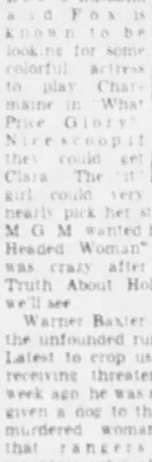
Star's 'Dying' Keeps Role From Him

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, April 6.—With the exception of Lew Ayres, all the young players of "All Quiet on the Western Front" will be recalled by Universal for Remarque's sequel, "The Road Back."

This at least is Carl Laemmle, Jr.'s present intent. Of course, if the actors are unavailable substitutions will have to be made. As to Ayres, Junior feels it would be a mistake to bring him back to life for the new story. And while some may disagree, I believe he's right. The death of Paul was for me one of the most poignant moments of the screen. Even now, after so long a time, I can visualize in perfect detail the way his hand reached out toward the butterfly and quivered as the sniper's bullet found its mark.



Lew Ayres

The other young actors who may be seen in the new picture include Billie Bakewell, Russell Gleason, Owen Davis, Jr., and Ben Alexander.

As you've heard by now, R. C. Sheriff has come over from England to adapt the story. In all probability, James Whale will succeed Lewis Milestone as director.

HERE'S GOSSIP

Here's one to watch. Saw Rex Bell lunching with Al Rockett at the Fox studio. Now, Rex has just signed with another studio, so it can't be about him. But Rex is Clara Bow's husband, and Fox is known to be looking for some colorful actress to play Charmaine in "What Price Glory." Nice scoop, if they could get Clara. The "it" girl could very nearly pick her studio these days. M. G. M. wanted her for the "Red Headed Woman" and R. K. O. was crazy after her for "The Truth About Hollywood." Well, we'll see.

Clara Bow

Warner Baxter is amazed at all the unfounded rumors about him. Latest to crop us was that he is receiving threatening letters. A week ago he was supposed to have given a dog to the little girl of a murdered woman. Ans. before that, rangers rushed to his mountain cabin after reports from Hollywood that he had shot himself in a hunting accident. None of the rumors were true. Warner is wondering who starts them.

Norman Krasna is writing a story called "Hollywood Speaks." Jack Daly offers to give him the numbers of several. . . . Buster Keaton's Newfoundland, Elmer, has the wander-lust. Tired of paying rewards for the return of the dog, Buster has had a sign engraved on his collar: "Please leave this dog alone. He will come home by himself."

PLAN COLD TRIP

Johnny Weissmuller is a great swimmer, but where M. G. M. is thinking of sending him, he couldn't advance a stroke.

The young athletic star, who won a contract out of "Tarzan," is the favored candidate for the lead in "Eskimo," M. G. M.'s drama of the Northland which W. S. Van Dyke is slated to do in the next few months.

If Johnny gets the role, he'll have to spend six months in the Arctic, far away from his missus, Bobbe Arnst.

Former Star's Daughter With Ann Harding

Bonita Granville, 9-year-old daughter of the former musical comedy star, Bernard Granville, has joined the cast of "Westward Passage," starring Ann Harding, to play the role of the star's daughter.

Tropical!

Helen Twelvetrees has the title role in "Panama Flo," which sounds like tropical romance and is booked to come to the Davis Friday.

War Scenes In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Standing amidst the ruins and desolation of Chapei, Floyd Gibbons, famous war correspondent of International News Service, vividly describes the horrors of the Shanghai war and sums up the result after a five months' stay in China and on the eve of his departure for home. There are new scenes of the horrors of Chapei to accompany Gibbons' impressive talk, which is a feature of the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News.

The eastern racing season is ushered in at Bowie with a thrilling duel to the finish in the inaugural handicap. More than 20,000 turf fans, including Vice President Curtis, pack the stands. After a perfect start, the horses dash around the oval with Vacillate setting the pace and Jazz Age creeping slowly up.

GIANT HOOVER DAM

Pictures show the progress of the work on the giant Hoover dam at Boulder City, Nev. Cameramen took the pictures from iron work buckets suspended from mid-air on cables, and also from airplanes. For one year the work on the $165,000,000 project has been pushed forward and within five years it is expected the dam will be completed. Besides reclaiming 2,000,000 acres of land it will furnish 1,000,000 electric horsepower to three states, nearly twice the power of Niagara.

Thrilling fight pictures come from the Navy Stadium at San Pedro, Cal., where boxing champions of the Atlantic cruising fleet and the Pacific battle force fleet compete for titles.

FASHION AND FOOTBALL

Leg-o'-mutton sleeves, reminiscent of grandma's day, are the latest things for lounging pajamas, according to a display of them by Ziegfeld's chorus girls. Organdie and Chantilly lace are mostly used in the new styles.

Under the guidance of Coach Hunk Anderson, the Notre Dame football team engages in its first spring practice at South Bend. After a vigorous speech, Hunk introduces them to a new bucking machine that has many novel features.

With scores of planes participating, the United States Army squadrons engage in their first spring maneuvers at March Field, California, with Gov. James Rolph reviewing the demonstration.

Notes About Coming Bills

"Laugh Week" will be observed in the Penn beginning Friday with the appearance of Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante in person on the stage, and on the screen with Buster Keaton and Polly Moran in a film comedy, "The Passionate Plumber." The regular stage show will be "Westward, Ho! Ho!" which features Marion Eddy, Boo Pitkin, Ray O'Brien, Oscar Raglan and Chester Hale's Western Steppers.

Regis Toomey, a native of Pittsburgh who has achieved fame in the movies, will appear in person in the Stanley, beginning Friday. The screen will offer Loretta Young in "Play Girl."

TODAY AND TOMORROW

William Haines departs from his usual wise-cracking comedy to play a serious role for the first time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking screen version of "Are You Listening?" based on J. P. McEvoy's story of the lives and loves of the radio broadcasters, which opens tomorrow in the Fulton. Madge Evans, Karen Morley, Anita Page, Wallace Ford and Jean Hersholt also are in the cast.

"Freaks," a screen drama woven about human curiosities and sideshow life opens a three-day engagement in the Sheridan Square today. Tod Browning directed the production.

Ernst Lubitsch's directorial achievement, "Broken Lullaby," comes to the Enright today for three days. Lionel Barrymore heads the cast. Phillips Holmes and Nancy Carroll are prominent.

WOOLSEY AND WHEELER

"Girl Crazy," with Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Eddie Quillan and Mitzi Green, comes to the Warner Friday. Tunes were written by George and Ira Gershwin.

Helen Twelvetrees is starred in the adventure and romance film, "Panama Flo," coming Friday to the Davis. Robert Armstrong and Charles Bickford are also in the film.

OTHER BOOKINGS

A comedy farce of the air, "Cock of the Air," co-starring Chester Morris and Billie Dove, opens in the Harris Saturday.

Frances ("Peaches") Browning, former wife of Daddy Browning, will open in the Academy Sunday midnight. She will head the show, "Peaches of 1932."

Home Town!

Regis Toomey will come back to Pittsburgh, scene of his boyhood, for a week's appearance on the Stanley stage, beginning Friday.

Lionel Barrymore Has New Contract

Lionel Barrymore has been signed to a new contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Barrymore was the winner of last year's academy prize for his performance in Norma Shearer's "A Free Soul." During his long stay with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Barrymore has shown his versatility by successfully directing several M-G-M features. Among these are "Madame X," "The Rogue Song" and "The Unholy Night." As an actor, Barrymore has appeared in many films, his most recent being "A Free Soul," "Guilty Hands," "Mata Hari," "Arsene Lupin" and "Grand Hotel." In "Grand Hotel" Barrymore has the part of Kringelein.

I. K. S. Players Score Hit In 'The Best People'

Another good performance goes to the credit of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement Players, who put on "The Best People" last night in competent fashion. This comedy by Avery Hopwood and David Gray shows the conflict between the younger generation and their socially sedate elders. There is quick action and smart talk, amusing situations and lots of laughs. The players did some of the best work they have yet done, especially Eleanor Frank as Millie and Morris Rattner as George Grafton. Others in the cast were Anne Phyllis Hanick, Hyman Bennett, Hannah Golding, Victor Vitaro, Nathan Feinberg, Myer Schwartz, Ruth Goldstock, Hyman Small, Isadore Roseberg and Eva Bernfield.

A very effective setting had been provided by J. Barry Feinstein, and the production was under Louis Isaacs, who may be proud of the work his proteges are doing.

Children's Play Group In Debut Saturday

After extensive rehearsals started more than a month ago, the newly-organized Children's Theater of Pittsburgh is all set for its local debut in the Pitt Saturday afternoon, when the fantasy, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," will be presented. Helen Sisenwain, prominent in dramatics at Carnegie Tech for the last three years, plays the title role.

The Children's Theater of Pittsburgh is under the direction of Mrs. Jerome Katz, a niece of A. H. Woods, the Broadway producer. Assisting her in the production is Mrs. Frank Weberman. The cast is composed of 20 adult performers, both amateur and professional, and a group of local children.

Rosa Ponselle Sings Here Tomorrow

Rosa Ponselle will return to Pittsburgh after an absence of two years to give the closing May Beegle concert in Syria Mosque tomorrow evening. One of the principal numbers will be the aria "O Divina Afrodite," from the opera "Fedra," by Romano Romani, which had its world premier last spring at Covent Garden, London, with Miss Ponselle in the principal role.

BITS OF LIFE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Vacation.

I WAS RIDING to my office in a cab yesterday when the idea popped into my alleged mind. About a vacation, I mean. I always get that type of notion when spring rolls around. I want to go far away, which is a very pleasing though not only to me but to plenty of my readers. I leaned forward and spoke to the driver.

"I would like to go somewhere for a month or so," I told him. "If you had your choice of spots to which to travel, where would you go?"

The driver smiled.

"That's a funny question to toss at me," he returned, "but I don't mind. We taxi guys drives so many nuts around that we get used to it. Whether you're kidding or not, though, I'll give you my answer. I'd pick Italy."

"Not bad," I mused. "Not bad at all. Italy."

"You said it," enthused the driver. "No place like it in the world. Plenty of sunshine and plenty of love. The idea interest you?"

"Well," I murmured, "the sunshine does. I'm glad I spoke to you about all this. When were you in Italy last?"

The chauffeur shrugged his shoulders.

"I've never been out of New York," he returend. "I'm only talking about Italy because my girl friend and I saw some swell pictures of it in the newsreel the other night." . . .

The moment I reached the office, I snatched the phone and called William R. Hearst, Jr., and asked him if he wanted to go to Italy with me.

"Tomorrow?" was his response.

"No," I said, "not that fast. Maybe in a week or two."

"Nothing doing," he said. "Much too busy right now. I couldn't possibly get away for that long time. Besides, why Italy? If you want to take a run over to Havana and spend a few days in the noble art of fishing, we might talk business."

Havana. Didn't sound bad at all. Stretched out in the sunshine on a deck with a fishing rod in one hand and a glass of orange soda in the other. Havana. Why not?

"That sounds pretty good," I murmured. "Havana, eh? Takes three days to get there, doesn't it?"

"Not with me," he shot back. "We'd take my plane and fly down."

"I'll meet you there," I said.

As I hung up, I noticed my secretary looking at me with a pained expression. He looked as though he had just finished reading one of my columns.

"Havana is no place for you right now," he said flatly. "You need more of a rest than you'll get there. Remember what happened the last time? You bet you do.

"If you'll take my tip, you'll run down to the Homestead, in Hot Springs. Or, if you must go out of the United States, why not go up to Quebec for a short trip? It's quiet up there now and you'll have a very peaceful time."

Quebec. Didn't sound half bad. I always liked Quebec. Quaint sort of place if you know the right spots, I nodded.

"Good idea, Jimmy," I assured him. "I think I'll take your advice. Give me my hat. I'm going over to the Ziegfeld Theater for a while."

As I walked into the theater, I met Mr. Buddy Rogers. I slapped him on the back. He took out a pencil and started to autograph one of my cuffs when he suddenly looked at me.

"Oh," he observed disappointedly, "It's you."

"Absolutely," I agreed. "And none of your wise cracks, either. I'm too happy today, I'm going on a little vacation."

He asked me where.

"Quebec," I returned promptly. "No place like it for a short stay. Not too far from New York and—"

The Rogers dome was wagging in negative fashion.

"You're foolish," he assured me. "Why don't you go to Hollywood? It's been almost three years since you've been there, and you know it's a grand spot right now. Plenty of laughs. Plenty of sport. Plenty of everything. Hollywood would be my choice."

Hollywood. That sounded more than fine. But to tell you the truth for a change, I was growing slightly dizzy. Italy. France. Havana. Hot Springs. Quebec. Hollywood. And all in the space of an hour.

"Yes," I agreed, "I like the idea. But—"

Mr. Rogers leaped right in.

"If you can't make up your mind," he suggested, "why don't you ask Mr. Ziegfeld. Has he told you where to go?"

"Several times," I replied.

* * *

At 5 o'clock in the morning I found myself in the Folies Bergere, a grand night life spot on West Fifty-second street. And I was sitting at a table with Enoch Johnson, a great political figure in New Jersey.

"Mark," said Mr. Johnson, "you look tired. What's on your mind?"

"A lot of things," I growled. "Italy. Norway. Hollywood. Havana. Quebec. Grrrr."

Mr. Johnson looked a trifle alarmed.

"You need a little rest," he told me. "Come on down to Atlantic City with me tomorrow. It's only three hours away, and you can lie in the sun and—"

I leaped up and bowed stiffly.

"To the devil with it," I muttered. "It's too far."...

PA., OHIO CLASH OVER SUSPECTS

Pittsburgh and Youngstown authorities today were near open warfare as a result of the freeing of Fred Bowser, Roy Marino and Donald Joyce, wanted here in connection with the Metro Club holdup, by Judge J. H. C. Lyon in the Ohio city yesterday.

Gov. George White last month signed extradition papers for the trio's return here. Judge Lyon, however, held that no evidence was introduced at yesterday's hearing to show the three were fugitives from justice.

Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd, chagrined, said this morning:

"This is the most flagrant case of 'fixing' I have seen.

"We'll fight this case to the finish and carry it to the highest court in Ohio, if necessary."

Thirteen witnesses testified yesterday that the three suspects had been in Youngstown on February 14, the night the Squirrel Hill club was held up.

Eight victims of the robbery identified them and Joyce was identified additionally by Charles Miller as one of three who held up the Miller Taxicab Company office in Charleroi on November 7 and escaped with $1,504.

House Republican Would Support Garner

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP).—Representative Snow of Maine, thinks gentlemen's agreements should be kept.

While arguing before the House that a Republican should continue to represent the contested Eighth Illinois Congressional District, he referred to agreements before Congress met that whichever party organized the House should remain in the saddle throughout the session. He said:

"If deaths or resignations gave the Republicans a majority now and I had to vote for a Speaker, I would vote for the Hon. John N. Garner."

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty.
And feels like forty.
At the age of 62.

That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant!

When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy half-alive, don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation. But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better in every way. You will never need to take another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way. Syrup pepsin isn't expensive.

WARNS AGAINST STORE WASTE

Waste totaling 16 to 20 per cent of the $50,000,000,000 spent annually in retail establishments of the country and mostly charged to the cost of distribution, must be eliminated, Godfrey M. Lebhar, of New York City, told members of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club yesterday at luncheon in the William Penn Hotel.

Lebhar, editor of Chain Store Age, cited the three important developments in chain store retail selling in the last three years. He said the government's census of distribution revealed 1,500,000 retail stores, of which 158,000 were chain stores. While the $50,000,000,000 spent annually would give each store $32,000 if equal, yet when the huge concerns doing millions of dollars in business have their share it leaves but 50 per cent receiving $10,000 or less.

HOLD LUNCHEON

Consular representatives stationed here held the first of a series of luncheon meetings yesterday in Kaufmann's dining room. The meetings were planned so the various consuls may get acquainted and discuss problems dealing with their countrymen.

John E. Loibl, German consul; Luis Perez-Abren, Mexican consul; Frederick Kennedy, acting British consul; Kosto Unkovich, Jugoslavian consul; Dr. John Joseph Gorrell, Latvian vice consul; Joseph S. Corrols, Spanish vice consul; Dr. Giovanni Giurato, Italian vice consul; Henry Hobeck, Hungarian consul; A. Z. Kratochvile, Czechoslovakian vice consul, and two visiting consuls, Dr. Mario Carosi, of Baltimore, and Enrico Iannarelli, of Charleston, W. Va., took part in the meeting.

Chile May Lose Rail Link Over Tariff

VALPARAISO, Chile, April 6 (INS).—The Chilean government had been informed today by the British-controlled Trans-Andean Railroad that unless Chile revises its tariff policy, railway service linking Chile and Argentina will be suspended April 20.

The railroad estimates that the Chilean tariff policy has cost the company more than $5,000,000 in loss of freight revenues in the past year.

New York Central Plans Speed Record

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP).—When the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central Railroad goes on its 18-hour schedule April 24, it will make the New York-to-Chicago trip at an average speed of 53.4 miles an hour, elapsed time including stops.

The New York Central announced this will be the fastest time for so great a distance of any train in the world. On the same day, it also was announced, nine New York-Chicago trains will go on a 21-hour schedule.

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth washes. Hence it goes 3 times as far. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength to be effective?

WHICH of the two kinds of antiseptics do you use when fighting sore throat colds—infection? For that's all there really are—just two leading kinds. On one side you have the mouth wash that kills germs only when used full strength. On the other side you have Pepsodent Antiseptic—utterly safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough when diluted with 2 parts of water to kill germs in 10 seconds. Pepsodent Antiseptic is at least three times as powerful as other leading antiseptics. Hence, by adding water it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money—and gives you greater assurance of a pure, sweet breath. What a fine way to save money. Instead of paying $3 for three bottles, you pay $1 and make the three bottles yourself. For years 3 people in 4 diluted the old-style mouth washes. But they were fooling themselves and not killing germs. So when choosing your antiseptic, be sure you choose the one that kills the germs even when mixed with water and gives you greater protection against colds . . . 1 to 2 hours longer assurance of a pure, sweet breath. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe! Be safe—and save money!

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent Antiseptic is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

ANTI-RED PLOT DOOMS PAIR

MOSCOW, April 6 (AP.)—Death before a firing squad faced Judas Stern and Sergei Vassiliev today, two Russian youths convicted of attempting to assassinate Dr. Fritz Twardowski, counsellor of the German embassy.

The death penalty was imposed by the Soviet Supreme Court after a two-day trial, during which the two young men confessed they shot the German embassy official. The penalty was demanded by Nikolai Krilenko, Soviet Russia's "relentless prosecutor."

During the trial Krilenko sought to link Stern and Vassiliev with an anti-Communist organization in Poland which, he said, once marked for death Michael Kalinin, president of the Soviet Union.

Vassiliev refused the prosecutor's demand that he make known the names of the members of the organization for which he said he acted in influencing Stern to make the assassination attempt. He said:

"I am morally bound not to involve others."

Mrs. Martin, Leader In Politics, Dead

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. J. Willis Martin, 68, known nationally for her political and philanthropic activities, died suddenly last night at her home after an illness of two weeks.

Mrs. Martin was the first woman Commissioner of the State Department of Welfare and the first woman delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention, serving at the Cleveland convention in 1924. An active campaigner for Gov. Gifford Pinchot's first candidacy for Governor, she withdrew her support of Pinchot in the 1930 campaign.

There is really no color that cannot be worn providing a woman chooses the right shade of rouge, Mrs. Matthews said, as she stressed the importance of "getting the areas properly divided" in order to make a thin face full or a full face thin.

Mrs. Matthews also showed the changes of the past year in hairdressing and supervised a permanent wave on one of her own assistants. Afterward there was tea and Mrs. E. J. Casselman served some of her justly famous sandwiches.

THE NEWEST MODE IN SPRING HATS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 6.—By now you have all no doubt benefitted from the best of all spring tonics, a new hat. Isn't it surprising to discover afresh each spring how much charm, balm, frivolity and flattery can be and is generally packed into a wisp of straw and a perky bow or an artfully placed cluster of flowers? Romance lingers where a knot of flowers nestles beneath a soft brim and beauty beckons where crisp, pert bows of ribbon lend color and gaiety to a smart straw hat. The new hats are simply grand without being silly or pretentious or all the things that the first hats of the season shouldn't be but too often are. No fear of any woman losing her head amongst the hats as was the case last season. Every model is most wearable and all are youthful without being suitable only for the very young woman. You will find a visit to a modiste a veritable tonic.

* * *

WE HAVE HAD sketched for you two hats that are representative of the mode. One is a small model, the other a wide brimmed hat. Both are the acme of fashion, something that doesn't always happen. The large flatterine hat is from Francine and is of coarse black Milan straw. Poised above and below the graceful brim are clusters of white organdie flowers with touches of black. A pistachio taffeta ribbon encircles the crown with loops drawn through the brim. The small model is from Gaby Mono's collection. A supple "pancake" crown of navy blue picot straw is shaped onto the head in beret fashion with a twisted ribbon of plaided taffeta in shades of blue as a trimming. This is passed through slits in the crown and tied in a crisp smart bow at the side back.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Working Wife Use Salary as She Pleases?

Alma's singing the "Disillusion Blues"—and so's her ole man.

And that's what this broadcast is all about.

What'll she do? Just now things look pretty bad to her and she's wondering if maybe she hadn't better ditch the big boy and carry on all by her lonesome.

No, that isn't quite as cruel as it sounds, stranger. So before you heave the brickbat, tune in on her wail.

And then tell us what you think about it.

"Dear Sally:

"You have helped so many folks that I am coming to you in the hope that you can maybe show a little light through a very murky problem.

"It is about my husband. We have been married for over three years and I am so disgusted that I could just run away. The first year everything was simply lovely, it being a 50-50 marriage. He insisted that I keep my job, so we could get a good start. I did, and Bill helped me all he could with the chores at home. He did everything he could, and everything was fine until he lost his job a year later. Then it was up to me to take the responsibility, and I did.

"Well, he finally got another job, after loafing a year. It was a low-salaried one but kept him quite busy. Then he used to come home nights and complain about everything. This job only lasted six months; then he was out again, and loafing.

"Now I must pay all the bills, and if I complain and ask him to move into a cheaper apartment, oh no! He wouldn't think of doing that. And he doesn't help me any more. I have to leave at 8 a. m., and he's either sleeping or reading. When I get home at night I have to cook supper while King Tut reads. All he's done all day is maybe wash the dishes. He wouldn't even think of setting the table for me.

ARGUES WITH HER

"He is so lazy that if I ask him to do anything, he either keeps on reading or gets so mad that he argues and argues. After supper he simply reads again and won't budge. If I ask him to help me clear the table the roar begins again, and he'll slam the dishes and kick the icebox.

"I don't see why I should support him and pay for everything when he won't even be decent enough to help me out a little. I told my aunt about it one day and she said, 'Why be a fool?' I'm beginning to think she's right.

"All week I must slave, and then on Sunday, if I don't get a big dinner he roars again. If I don't bake a couple of pies or a cake and have a roast, he says I'm lazy. I'm getting sick of it.

"He expects me to do my part as a wife. Why can't he do his part as a husband?

"I can't do a thing with him. He always wants to argue. He claims I come home crabby. Well, who wouldn't? I have to clean and scrub and wash, while King Tut reads. Sometimes I think I'll burn up if I don't get rid of him.

EXPENSIVE APARTMENT

"He even has been running around with girls—went so far once as to entertain one in our apartment while I was working. I blew up at that and told his parents, and he promised that he wouldn't run around any more.

"But when I think that I only get a fair salary and he insists on keeping an expensive apartment and a car—$5 garage rent, not to mention gas—and then he won't even help me—well, what would you do?

"I wonder if any of the rest of the gang have a layout like that on their hands? If they have, I wish they'd give me a few tips on what they did about it. I sure need them! Shall I walk out on him? "ALMA."

All right, folks! Come on!

What'll Alma do?

Personally, I'd say that since she earns the money, she should have the say about how it's spent. And if I were in her shoes, I'd not stop to consult the big boy's grouches. I'd pick up and find an apartment I could afford and tell him if he didn't like it he could move out.

Is that what you would tell him?

Fay King Deplores Perplexing Questions That Bring About Divorces

By FAY KING

Some years ago the divorce problem was quite easy to comprehend.

It nearly always presented a case of a man who had married young and worked very hard to accumulate a fortune. Then finding himself rich and retired from the strenuous grind he began to play a bit.

Naturally he soon became the victim of some vivacious and ambitious young woman whose youth and beauty contrasted decidedly with the elderly and conservative wife of the years.

But in this day when young married couples decide to divorce for no reason at all it is a perplexing problem indeed.

They become interested in some one else who is no wit younger, no more attractive or desirable than the mate they are married to.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

To Prevent Disease, Keep the Teeth in Good Health

It used to be thought that a man who used his tooth brush faithfully, yet whose teeth decayed, was unjustly persecuted by fate, but we have discovered that mouth cleanliness is only one of the factors required to keep the teeth in first class condition.

Dr. Copeland

It was formerly believed that everything was all right if inspection of the mouth showed no decayed teeth; but now we know that costly bridge work and shining gold crowns may conceal "sinks of iniquity," capable of generating conditions that may break down even the strongest constitution. The X-ray examination of the mouth has revealed many a secret, formerly undiscoverable.

The structure of the teeth is such that a crowned tooth in which an infection has developed is extremely dangerous. Unable to escape outward into the mouth, the poisonous matter is forced through the root of the tooth into the blood stream. Since the health of all the structures of the body depends upon their supply of healthy blood, it is readily seen that the influence of an infected tooth may be far-reaching and dangerous. There is a theory that the spot most vulnerable to infections is some area of the body that has been weakened by disease or previous injury.

The general public has become aware that abscessed teeth may cause disorders of the cavities adjacent to the jaw, little chambers called the "antra." The roots of the upper teeth are in close proximity to these cavities. Serious diseases of the eye, sometimes resulting in loss of vision, may come from such a cause, while rheumatism, arthritis, general debility and frequent colds are often associated with dental defects.

Even though the patient is wearing a complete upper and lower set of artificial teeth, there may be hidden trouble. An X-ray examination of the mouth may reveal an old root that has been completely concealed by the gum.

It is wise to have a thorough examination of the mouth each year if the general health is below par. This is particularly true if there are gold crowns or many fillings in the teeth.

The present trend of medicine is toward the prevention of disease as well as its cure. Every one should learn the essential rules for promoting the health of the teeth, because there cannot be a guarantee against disease if the teeth are not healthy.

Strict cleanliness must be observed, and the teeth brushed carefully after each meal. Acidity of the mouth demands an alkaline mouth wash, such as a solution of bicarbonate of soda or milk of magnesia.

The minerals, lime and phosphorous must be assured to maintain the teeth in good condition. These can be had through suitable foods. To have these minerals properly absorbed the "sunshine vitamin" D must be present. Sunlight, milk, cod liver oil and yolks of eggs are rich in this vitamin.

The diet conducive to health should contain citrus fruits, raw vegetables and other articles that make up a rational food supply for the needs of the human system.

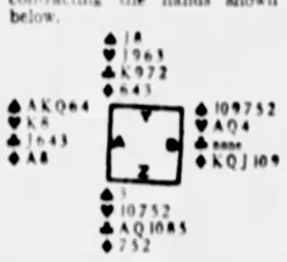
Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Reading a Novel Bid

Sometimes a player unexpectedly springs a novel bid upon his partner. If that bid can be read without difficulty, and if the bid meets a long-felt want, thereafter it becomes a regular part of the proceedings of those two players. Such a bid of great utility was first employed in contracting the hands shown below.



Z passed. I occupied A's position. My hand was not worth a semi-forcing bid of 2-Spades, so I bid only 1-Spade. Y passed. My partner, M. L. Coleman, was an adept at feature showing, so that we were employing that system of bidding powerful hands. He jumped my declaration to 3-Spades, saying: "Show your lowest side ace; I can see a sure game, and probably a slam." I did as directed, by bidding 4-Diamonds, thereby denying holding the Ace of clubs. I had to show my features in regular order. My partner, having given the slam signal, was at liberty to show his features in any way that he deemed best calculated to obtain from me the information he desired.

Coleman said nothing about clubs. He bid 4-Hearts, to announce possession of the ace. Having no more side aces to show, I started showing kings. As my partner had stated that he held the first trick winner in hearts, my bid of 5 Hearts meant that I could win the second heart trick with the K.

Next B bid 6-Clubs, stating that he saw a certain small slam and wanted to know whether or not a grand slam was safe to bid. I never had heard a bid of the kind, but I tried to reason out its meaning. I had bid only 1-Spade. Then I had shown the Ace of diamonds; afterwards I had shown the K of hearts. Upon that rather meager information my partner stated that he felt confident of a small slam, and that he hoped for a grand slam. The one thing that my partner could not know at all was how good my spades were. Evidently he was quite long in spades; my information concerning my holdings in the two red suits showed him no losers there. He could hold no losing clubs. All that B wanted to know was about my solid tops in Spades. Having grasped that fact, I bid 7-Spades, which of course came to us on a spread.

There are two methods whereby the assisting hand can show absence of losers of a side suit; the first is by bidding one trick higher than required to overcall the previous declaration; the second method is by bidding a suit out of its normal order. Had Coleman held the ace of clubs he would have shown that suit before showing me hearts. Showing hearts before clubs meant that clubs had no losing cards. Whether he meant that he held solid tops or was void of that suit I neither knew nor cared. I did grasp the fact that he wanted to know what top spades I held.

So far as I know that particular method of showing no losers of a suit in the assisting hand had never before been employed, but since then it has become a regular part of feature showing.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Solitary Appreciation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know if you consider that it would be good form for a business woman to attend the opera or a musical comedy alone? I am a stranger in this city, and I would so much like to go to the opera or to the theater, but would have to go unescorted. READER.

By all means do not hesitate to go to the opera and to the theater alone. This naturally can be done in a most dignified way, and there is no reason why you should deprive yourself of these great pleasures. Think of the number of people who go to the movies and to the theater alone, and thereby get the mental and spiritual relaxation that come from observing a good story or good acting, or both.

And many people prefer to go alone to hear music of any kind, even when they could have the most charming of companions. If at first you feel self-conscious sitting alone between the acts, take your libretto of the opera and read this between the acts.

CRISIS IN LINDY SEARCH NEAR; HOPES HIGH

Mystery Activities Multiply; Nursery Lighted, Baby's Milk Ordered at Hopewell

the couple of Pinehurst in South Mashpee but lost them in a wooded road.

Meanwhile the boat which brought them to the shore disappeared.

Other straigic points in the quest hummed with the excitement of scouts sending secret code messages apparently designed for the kidnapers, emissaries on mysterious trips by sea and airplane and seemingly significant activities at the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, near Hopewell, N. J.

The tenseness of expectation was heightened by the flat assertion of a Newark police official that the world's most famous baby would be returned before sundown tonight.

LIGHTS IN NURSERY

Cheerfulness seemed to pervade the home atop Sourland Mountain, where the Lindberghs have kept unceasing vigil since their son was stolen from his crib there on March 1.

A special brand of milk for use of the baby was ordered delivered again to the house for the first time since shortly after the infant was carried out into the night by the kidnapers.

Lights again blazed from the nursery until dawn.

Coast Guard vessels off Vineyard Haven, near Cuttyhunk, Mass., and near island-dotted Buzzards Bay, patroled the area.

AMPHIBIAN SEEN AGAIN

The mysterious amphibian plane in which Lindbergh himself was reported Sunday to have flown to Cuttyhunk swooped low over Nashawena Island again yesterday as if seeking to communicate with someone, then disappeared.

One of the Coast Guard destroyers was definitely said to be under orders to signal by radio code to navigators of a ship believed to carry the abducted baby and perhaps its captors.

Significance was seen in the fact that the flounder-dragger Alva convoyed by Coast Guard vessels steamed across the Vineyard Sound shortly after the plane had covered the same route. The Alva was chartered by a stranger at Chilmark for undisclosed purposes.

SILENT ON MESSAGE

Four men aboard were in uniform. The lone civilian sighted was reported to be Curtis, the Norfolk intermediary.

The Coast Guard cutter Acushnet was back at its base at Woods Hole after cruising the Sound, but the crew refused to affirm stories that a message from the strange amphibian was received when it passed.

Edgartown, at the extreme end of Martha's Vineyard aroused already by a druggist's revelation that a stranger purchased some baby food recently and apparently took it on board some ship, was further stirred today by the presence of an unidentified Coast Guardsman.

For a few days he aroused curiosity because he sought to avoid the appearance of searching the neighborhood, yet apparently was waiting to make contact with someone.

POLICE FORCE REDUCED

In New Jersey, everything seemed in point to confidence the baby would be back soon. The state police force at the Lindbergh estate was reduced to skeleton size.

Reports were that the Englewood, N. J., home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, was in readiness to receive the child. It has been generally held he would be brought back there rather than to the Sourland Mountain home if Lindbergh or any of his envoys obtained the infant.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, professed ignorance of developments.

In one of his bulletins he said the aliens whose fingerprints were received by Scotland Yard and found to be of persons having no criminal records, a matter he mentioned earlier, referred to the "servants in the Lindbergh home."

He also said no request had been received to withdraw the guard about the Lindbergh home.

NEW 'JAFSIE' NOTE

There was another "Jafsie" message in the public notices of a morning newspaper today. These reputedly emanated from some one connected with the search for the baby. The new "personal" read:

"What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions. Jafsie."

No official report is known to have come from Maj. Charles H. Schoeffel of the state police, now in Great Britain in connection with the Lindbergh case.

FIRE THREATENING LINDY'S HOME

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN BEATING OUT BRUSH FIRE NEARING THE LINDBERGH HOME (REAR)

Volunteers, including police, servants, neighbors, many reporters, fighting fast-spreading fire at Lindy's. The Colonel helped, too. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

ARREST BALKS HEARING

Alderman Luke Sullivan said today the arrest of Walter Kearns last night on a charge of assault and battery prevented his appearance as a prosecuting witness in a similiar case scheduled for hearing before him.

Constables from Alderman Thomas M. Geary's office arrested Kearns in his home in Thirty-seventh street on information made by F. Deni, defendant in the case scheduled to be heard by Sullivan, several hours before the hearing was called.

Kearns' release on bond was not effected until it was too late to hold the hearing. Sullivan said Deni will be arraigned Tuesday. Kearns' hearing before Geary will also be held next week.

"It was all simple too . . . after I had the good sense to reason it out—now I am overjoyed because I not only have a clear skin, but my system is strengthened . . . and I again mingle with my friends and associates with confidence.

Medical authorities say that skin conditions commonly manifest themselves when the system is in a weakened and "run-down" condition . . . that the skin must have a ratio of body balance . . . must have resistance from within.

If you are troubled with pimples, boils or a similar skin disorder or require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—besides its general tonic properties, it regenerates hemoglobin and restores red-cells in the blood.

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

Organization Campaign
Coyne Directed
—By MARK SHIELDS—

Mark Shields

As has been pointed out before, there is greater unity in organization circles for this campaign than there has been for some years, just as there is a diffusion of power and interest among Independents contrary to their coordinated front in the last county election.

But it should be emphasized that this organization unity is more apparent than real, that it has no assurance of permanence, and, indeed, is proving irksome to some Republican leader outside the camp of Senator James J. Coyne. To all intents and purposes this Allegheny County campaign for the organization statewide ticket is a Coyne campaign, and to a lesser extent the legislative campaign has the same aspect.

William H. Coleman is the chairman of the Allegheny County campaign committee, but Senator Coyne is the "general chairman." There are numberless politicians, not much concerned about this campaign, even where legislators are affected, who are looking to the future, fearful, meanwhile, that Senator Coyne will acquire an advanced position which will make him more powerful in the next mayoralty and county campaigns.

There are some organization leaders who are conspicuously absent from the William Penn headquarters, which has been the cause of considerable comment. Some of the management is even fearful that this clash may have a harmful effect on the present campaign. That fear, however, is groundless, so far as the state ticket is concerned.

* * *

Coyne's Candidacy for Re-election Unaffected

Indeed, it will not affect Coyne's candidacy for re-election in the Forty-third District, where all organization elements favor him because the alternative is an Independent backed by County Commissioner C. M. Barr. But it will play a part in the Thirty-second District, wherein Coyne's Senatorial District is located, and where he is trying to supplant Congressman P. J. Sullivan with Councilman M. J. Muldowney. Many organization men there will refuse to work for Muldowney, while aiding Coyne.

It will be interesting to watch the play of personalities, the reaching out of the Senator for more power, for which he has a tremendous yearning—as well as a confidence of his own capacity to rule, as against the look toward the future by other men.

Within the Independent ranks there is a difference somewhat dissimilar, but alike in that it will not affect this campaign. It is the attitude of Barr. The Commissioner, spearhead of the Independent movement while McGovern is out of commission with a broken ankle, is for the present statewide Independent ticket with all his force. But he is not attached to Pinchot, and, should the Governor be a senatorial candidate two years hence there are predictions that Barr will not be in his corner.

When the Governor hopped into Pittsburgh Saturday night for a hurried consultation with leaders, Barr was not among those who met with him, though he had been chairman of the big Independent meeting at which the Governor spoke last week. Independent circles have dropped a comment or two on this incident.

Same Name Appears Often in Both Parties

Below are printed the names of congressional candidates for the five districts of Allegheny County, in the order in which they will appear on the primary ballot this month. It will be noted how frequently the same name appears as a candidate in both parties. That always has puzzled me, how, if there is any difference in party principles, men could belong to both. Anyhow, here they are:

THIRTIETH DISTRICT
Republican—Edmund F. Erk, Robert W. Hervey.
Democratic—Herbert R. Simon, Twing Brooks.
THIRTY-FIRST DISTRICT
Republican—Maurice L. Thompson, Clyde Kelly.
Democratic—Maurice L. Thompson, Clyde Kelly.

MODERN DESIGN BRINGS LOWER ESTIMATE

Build This Year or Drop Issue, Herron Proposes; Realty Men Hear Backers

Economies in construction have made possible an estimate on the cost of a subway loop considerably below any previous figure, according to E. G. Kaltenbach, engineer, who has been working with Norman F. Brown and Edward Snodgrass, Jr., in preparing plans for a downtown subway.

The subway would be constructed in reinforced concrete sections, according to the Brown-Snodgrass plan. A large quantity of steel columns, formerly included in the cost, would not be used, Kaltenbach said. The latest type of cantilever concrete slab construction would be used in the roof, he said.

Chief City Engineer Charles M. Reppart said he will complete his investigation of Brown's subway estimates today. His report will go to Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, who says he will study it before making its contents public.

DRAINAGE PLANNED

Drainage of the subway would not be a serious problem, Kaltenbach said. Forced drainage may be installed at two places on the route, and entrances to the tubes will be well above river flood levels, he declared.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board governors yesterday heard Brown and Snodgrass describe their subway plan. The governors decided to take no action until after the report of the City Transit Commission which is studying the Brown-Snodgrass estimates.

John S. Herron, president of City Council, declared in an interview that furnishing relief from traffic congestion is the real dividend to be expected from the subway, and that a large expenditure is fully justified in the downtown district where the city receives the bulk of its revenue. He said:

"We are going to build the subway this year or stop talking about it."

RIVER WALL PROJECT

Reppert yesterday addressed the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange, on the river wall improvement project included in the Brown-Snodgrass plan. Reppert would build an arched river wall with a concrete platform supported on the wall and on columns.

Under the platform, space would be provided for wharfing for the navigation interests. On top the platform would be a level area for parking or for a belt boulevard. Reppert estimates the cost of such a structure at $550 a running foot. The present plan is to improve about 1,000 feet of waterfront.

WOMEN GROUPS BEGIN WORK FRIDAY

Need of 28,000 Families Spurs Aids in Campaign; Appeals Made Over Radio

Heeding the warning that a crisis is at hand in efforts to keep 28,000 families from starving, men's groups were ready to launch their family-help-family campaign tomorrow morning as women's organizations prepared for action Friday.

Mrs. F. C. Irish, women's chairman, today issued a call to governing heads of all women's groups for a meeting at 2 p. m. Friday in the English room of the Fort Pitt Hotel to prepare for an immediate drive for emergency relief funds.

HARRIS STATEMENT

Senator Frank J. Harris, chairman of the campaign, made this statement as the zero hour approached:

"The emergency is far greater than the people realize. We do not feel that the 28,000 families, now absolutely destitute, can be turned away. They have to be fed."

A breakfast and radio program at 8 a. m. tomorrow in the William Penn Hotel will officially open the drive.

Meanwhile, William B. Rodgers' brigade, whose members will solicit funds from 600 plants and their employes, will hold a dinner tonight and the workers will get an early start tomorrow.

Radio speakers in behalf of the campaign today included Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, Dr. Albert E. Day, Rabbi Benedict B. Glazer, the Rev. J. J. Callahan and F. J. Chesterman.

STUDY NEW PROPOSAL

Legality of a tentative proposal of the County Commissioners to use unexpended balances in road bond projects, approximating $1,000,000, for relief work was being investigated today, following yesterday's meeting of the commissioners with Communists. No action will be taken until Chairman C. C. McGovern leaves the hospital.

The workers have been spurred by the indication that city and county relief funds may not last the period originally expected. On Monday 1,665 food orders, totaling $7,493, were issued as compared with the 371 orders totaling $1,928 the preceding Monday, according to a report of Samuel E. Claney, relief director of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, on the distribution of the city's $260,000 appropriation for food relief to the needy.

Director Claney today received word that the first four-car shipment of government flour for destitute families in this county had left Kansas City and was due at the Arsenal terminal of the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday or Tuesday.

DOCTOR HIS OWN ATTORNEY

Dr. I. B. Reed, of Crafton, acted as his own counsel today in a hearing before the Public Service Commission on his claim for damages against the Borough of Crafton. Dr. Reed asked Commissioner Samuel Walker to award him $21,900 for property at Station street and White avenue, taken by the borough in abolishing a grade crossing. When counsel for the borough sought to learn why Dr. Reed, since 1903, had not improved the property, the physician explained in 1904 he had lost money in the stock market.

Scheduled for the second time was the hearing of the complaint of James W. Jones, of 1106 Peermont avenue, Dormont, against the South Pittsburgh Water Company. Jones contends that the company furnishes not only a poor grade of water in the South Hills, but charges twice as much as it does in the city proper.

ORIE ACCUSED OF BEATING MAN

John W. Orie, former police magistrate, today was awaiting action of the grand jury for the beating he was alleged to have administered to Paul Harenski, an undertaker of 4110 Butler street.

Orie was held for court last night on a charge of assault and battery at a hearing before Alderman Luke Sullivan after Harenski testified Orie, one time political ally of Congressman P. J. Sullivan, had struck him in the face, knocking him unconscious, in an argument at Penn avenue and Thirty-fourth street, March 25.

Orie represented by counsel, did not testify. He was released on a $500 bond.

2 CHAINS DEAL FOR HOTEL

Definite action on a sale or change in the management of the Roosevelt Hotel is expected with two weeks, with two national hotel chains figuring in the pending deals, it was revealed today.

One hotel chain must reach a decision next week on negotiations for purchase, H. F. Sauers, a trust officer of the Commonwealth Trust Company, receivers, revealed following confirmation of pending deals from bondholders' representatives. Agreement on terms has been reached between the receivers and the American Hotels Corporation to operate the hotel for the receivers if the sale fails to materialize, Sauers said. Sauers would not reveal the identity of the chain considering purchase.

The American Hotels Corporation operates a chain of more than 20 hotels, including the Penn-Lincoln Hotel in Wilkinsburg. The pending deals were confirmed by Gen. Abel Davis, of the Chicago Title and Trust Company and chairman of the Bondholders' Protective Association, and Attorney George Schorr, of Philadelphia.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 6.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Congress gave 40 minutes to Philippine independence—gave 40 minutes, but no independence. Democrats all voted for it; they are in about the same fix the Philippines are. Sugar and immigration were the things they were voting on — the freedom of a race of people never entered into it. We better give 'em their freedom while we got 'em. The only reason we ever held 'em this long was because Japan didn't use sugar in their tea. But they are liable to start using it any day.

Yours, WILL.

"The force is to be congratulated on good behavior. I only hope it continues."

Officers said that it was the first time in years that two weeks passed without some member of the force running afoul of regulations.

BEAUTY SEEKERS GET EXPERT AID

Complexion Buyers Urged to Ignore Obvious 'Bait'

Toilet goods should be bought with as much care as the most expensive clothing, Barbara Gould, beauty counsellor here this week to give advice on cosmetics, said today.

Declaring that beauty shoppers should not be swayed by pretty bottles and should not buy cosmetics just because they smell nice, Miss Gould said:

"Buying new complexions is as important to the spring shopper as buying clothing since the purpose of cosmetics is to enhance natural loveliness and not to alter it nor to conceal skin imperfections.

Miss Gould gives daily talks and advice at the cosmetics department of Kaufmann's. She will remain here until Saturday night.

Finland Learns Rum Is Cheaper In 'Dry' Country

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Finland has just discovered that liquor was cheaper under prohibition.

We've known that for years.

The Finns have personal liberty again after 13 years of chemical experiments.

Their best legal breath perfume, known as Heart of Helsingfors, is six smackers a quart. But it's powerful. One drink and you've got to put on smoked glasses to look at a lightning bug.

Two drinks and you break all world's records for ski jumping in your bare feet.

We've also had almost 13 years of prohibition. It's a success for both the drys and wets.

What effect has it on the present economic condition? We ain't sure. All we know is that shovels, pickaxes, saws, hammers, machinery and gears are rusty.

And all the corkscrews are bright and shiny.

CONOVER OUSTING UNEXPLAINED

Ex-Health Chief's Friends Protest To Pinchot

While leaders of civic and health organizations today awaited outcome of their protests to Gov. Pinchot on the discharge of Dr. John R. Conover, as health director of Allegheny County, efforts to obtain light on his dismissal at Harrisburg were unavailing.

A representative of the Sun-Telegraph went to P. S. Stahlnecker, secretary to the Governor, and was referred to Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health. He in turn sent the inquirer to D. C. McCallum, in charge of the Personnel Bureau. McCallum said he was under orders not to discuss Conover's ouster and referred the matter back to the Governor's office.

The Health Colony Club, latest organization to act, sent its resolution of protest to the Governor yesterday.

Dr. E. A. Conti, nephew of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, holding down Conover's former job, told a reporter:

"I received my appointment from the Governor and feel that I am able to care for my duties in an efficient way. I shall try to give the public the type of service they expect."

MOTORS SHOW SPURS BUYING SPIRIT

Attendance Marks Set As Results of 'Garden' Exhibit Pass Expectations

Records for automobile show attendance today were reported being set at the exhibit of General Motors 1932 automobiles, household appliances and car kits at Motor Square Garden, Baum boulevard and Beatty street.

Display managers for each division of the General Motors reported to General Chairman J. A. Kenyon that renewed buying spirit was increasingly manifested. While the total cars sold since opening of the show Saturday was not available, Kenyon declared conservative estimates placed the results above expectations. "Work for Many Hands" is the objective of the show.

The doors are open daily for the week between 10 a. m. and 11 p. m. The display is free and musical programs are heard afternoon and evening with Don Bestor and his orchestra performing. Every visitor is given the opportunity to share in the gifts including an automobile, electric refrigerator and other household appliances which will be given away Friday night.

A feature of interest to youths is the display and demonstrations in Napoleonic coach building sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, conducted here under auspices of the Sun-Telegraph. Members of the guild are seen building models. The winning coach of the Pittsburgh and the tri-state district from last year are on display.

Ton of Hay Mailed To Snowbound Stock

DENVER, Col., April 6.—(AP)—A ton of hay has been mailed by parcel post to feed dairy cattle in the snowbound town of Silverton, Col., which has been isolated since February 9.

A Durango firm was unable to ship the hay because the railroad is blocked with snow slides. So it was placed in bundles to conform with the maximum size and weight specified for parcel post and mailed. It required $14 worth of stamps, but the Postoffice Department lost $86 on the transaction because it had to transfer the hay by pack mule at a cost of 5 cents a pound.

4 CANDIDATES' SLOGAN RAPPED

Misleading use of the words "Fair Rate" by four Legislative candidates of the Twelfth Legislature District was charged today by officials of the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association following appearance of signs and cards in Greentree.

The four candidates, who are supported by the Independent Republican organization, are Ronald I. Thompson, John R. Herring, Herman C. A. Hofacker and Edward Lee Blade. O. W. Heselbarth, chairman of the Forty-fifth Senatorial District Committee of the Fair Rate group, declared:

"While we are glad to see these men oppose excessive public utility rates, yet the use of the expression 'The Fair Rate 4' on their cards is misleading to the public. Neither they nor any other candidates as yet have been indorsed."

Hofacker denied use of the expression to mislead voters.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO LOSE 6 POUNDS FAT WEEKLY

Yet Eat And Drink Your Fill?

An Amazing Yet Simple Method Recently Brought to This Country from England, That Enables the Average Fat Person to Rip 6 or More Pounds of Fat Off a Week Without Starvation or One Extra Step of Exercise

It seems that the British have found a way to get rid of excess fat (that's the stream-of-every-food fat person). That is, they do it without starving, without doing exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen, the scores of thousands of Britishers who have tried it are losing pounds as if by magic. In a few weeks, hollows appear in cheeks, chins and necks disappear, clothes hang on shoulders as if on hangers. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it and if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink and Grow Thin, Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and lose the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast: Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water in which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people, accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals: Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantity of lean meats and ADD a double-helping of vegetables—spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat, the better. They're packed with vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sparkling dry wines, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and dinner. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

It's all you can do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week, usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds, and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salts tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and this fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

COUNTY LEGION VOTES BONUS DEMAND

Congressmen to Be Urged To Support New Bill; State Vets' Aid Sought

Demand for national American Legion support of a new soldiers' bonus bill will be placed before the state executive committee meeting here Friday despite the White House statement that National Commander Henry L. Stevens, Jr., has reported support for President Hoover's opposition.

The action was voted at a meeting of the Allegheny County posts last night in Fort Pitt Hotel. The members unanimously voted to order the county executive committee to place their demand before the state group. The committee also will be advised to notify Congressional members of the district of the Legion action.

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Company, and state chairman of the Legion job campaign, urged Legionnaires to realize the responsible job it had assumed and to lend every support in the constructive work, He said:

"There has been no destruction through the depression. We still have our buildings and our great industrial plants. All the tools remain with which to produce, and only fear is holding us back."

Indorsement of the Costigan-La Follette $5,000,000,000 federal aid bill was urged. A resolution calling for such action was placed before the executive committee for consideration.

Charges were made that veterans in the employment of the Railways Mail Service, protected by presidential order against discharge when workers are to be furloughed, were being dismissed despite the ruling. The Legion plans to investigate the charges.

Hoover Veto Forecast For Soldiers' "Bonus"

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Administration leaders in Congress today expressed confidence that a presidential veto of cash payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' "bonus" will be upheld if the proposal is not defeated on the first test either in Senate or House.

With the House Ways and Means Committee preparing to begin hearings on cash payment bills on Monday, both backers and opponents of the legislation were engaged in making informal polls.

Representative Royal Johnson (Rep.), of South Dakota, leading the ex-service men fighting the measure, declared that passage is doubtful and a veto is certain to be upheld.

Representative Wright Patman (Dem.), of Texas, also a veteran, and the chief cash payment advocate in the House, is more confident. Patman not only claims the legislation will pass, but that Congress will override a presidential veto.

Defending his plan to issue greenbacks partially on gold and partially on the "bonus" debt, Patman said an increase in the currency is necessary to restore prosperity.

Replying to the statement of Commander Henry L. Stevens, of the American Legion, that Legion posts are backing the national convention's position against cash payment, Patman said that Stevens "Doesn't know what is going on in his own organization."

A $300,000 bond issue to repair water lines, construct bridges and to stop a 2,000,000-gallon daily water leak on the Allegheny River water mains will be asked from City Council Monday by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang.

Managing Engineer James H. Kennon, of the Bureau of Water, would be given $102,000 to replace mains leading to the South Side and for the laying of 24-inch mains on the new South Tenth Street Bridge.

Five thousand dollars would be used to repair a line along the Allegheny River near Twenty-sixth street. Loss of 2,000,000 gallons of water daily was discovered recently.

The remainder of the appropriation, to be in the form of a councilmanic bond issue, would be assigned for work under Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert.

FIVE CUBS FAST; ONLY TWO IN 1931

ANOTHER MANAGER WHO notes the trend of baseball back to the days when one run meant something is Rogers Hornsby, of the Cubs. The Rajah has built his team accordingly and is shaping his battle plans to meet the new conditions. He admits that he is going in for speed. That was his main object in adding so much youth to the club this year. Hornsby figures that as a result of this the Bruins will be suited to the changed style of play in the National League, whereas last year they were not.

Rogers Hornsby

In 1931 the Chicago club had only two fast men, Kiki Cuyler and Woody English. This season it will have five who can go to town, as Vince Barton, Bill Herman and Stanley Hack have been added to Cuyler and English. Hornsby contends that these acquisitions will transform the Cubs into a speedy team in these days when speed counts, and that they will win more games than in 1931 because they will be able to steal a base when necessary or occasionally take the extra sack that often stands for victory with the less lively ball in play.

ACCORDING TO HORNSBY'S spring estimates the Pittsburgh club passed up a live one when it failed to grab Hack last year. Joe Devine was watching the young third baseman but did not recommend his purchase.

"I was not sure this spring that Hack could fill a big league job," Hornsby said. "But he has far exceeded my expectations and I have no doubt whatever that he is ready now to play major league ball. He'll get better right along, too, for the next two or three years. No one could buy him from us now at any price."

SOME STRANGE TRAGIC fate appears to trail Australia's greatest sports figures to the United States when they invade this country in quest of new laurels. Les Darcy, renowned middleweight fistic king who was hounded into getting the right to box until he died of a broken heart in Memphis on May 24, 1917.

And now the wonder horse Phar Lap, though in striking contrast to Darcy, he had in prospect a brilliant American campaign with a royal welcome everywhere, has also been fatally stricken soon after his arrival on these shores.

NEWS OF THE sudden death of Phar Lap caused regret among racing followers everywhere. He had become almost a world turf figure, and had attracted attention throughout this country in particular as a result of his success in winning the Agua Caliente Handicap last month after a journey of 10,000 miles. The scheduled appearance of the Red Terror at mid-Western and eastern tracks later threatening Sun Beau's world record for winnings, had promised to be a magnet that would go far toward making the American racing season a success, which it may not be without the help of his color and drawing power. It is to be regretted that Phar Lap did not live to be tested against Twenty Grand, Mate, Equipoise, Jamestown and Questionaire. The full extent of his racing capabilities, or just how he compared with America's best, must now remain unknown.

IN THE DEATH of James (Cocky) McCoy, 75, there passed one of Pittsburgh's most prominent and colorful figures of the fight game's early days. McCoy belonged to the era of iron men in the pugilistic sport, when battles were fought under London Prize Ring Rules out in the open on the turf and with bare knuckles, until one of the principals could go no further.

Cocky McCoy

Under these conditions, Cocky met the best men around here in his time and never failed to give a good account of himself. Fights were quickly arranged in those days. The principals proceeded to battle it out in the street, in a tavern, on an open lot, or wherever they happened to be, until one of them was knocked out or the police interrupted the mill.

SOMETIMES THE HANDLERS or friends of a fighter were not overly scrupulous as to the methods they used to save their man from threatened defeat. There was McCoy's bare-knuckle fight with a local rival in the open at old Ross Grove, near what it now Aspinwall.

The men fought so long that night was coming on. McCoy began to look like the winner. In the gathering dusk one of the seconds of Cocky's opponent picked up a stone and struck McCoy on the head with it, knocking him out.

McCOY'S MOST NOTABLE exploit was his going against the mighty John L. Sullivan almost 50 years ago. Sullivan, who had won the heavyweight championship from Paddy Ryan in 1882, started on a tour of the country in September, 1883, offering $1,000 to any man who could succeed in staying four rounds with him. The tour lasted nine months and John L. knocked out about 50 men. When Sullivan was showing in McKeesport one night, McCoy resolved to make a try for the thousand. He didn't have railroad fare, so he walked the 15 miles from Pittsburgh to the Tube City. Cocky pitched right into the famous champion and "bled" him, as they expressed it at that time, when drawing first blood, particularly against the mighty John L. was quite an achievement. The aroused Sullivan made a rush like a mad bull and quickly disposed of McCoy, but afterwards pronounced him one of the toughest men he had met on the tour.

WITH WILMER ALLISON selected to replace the retired George M. Lott, Jr., the United States Davis cup tennis team of H. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., Francis X. Shields, John Van Ryn and Allison will be generally approved as representing the best choices that could have been made.

The only other player for whom an argument might be put up is Gregory Mangin, new indoor champion, and in Mangin's case it must not be forgotten that all of his impressive work was done indoors and he has yet to prove he can show the same form outdoors. If he does prove it, there will still be time to make a change in the team should the United States keep in the hunt by beating Canada.

DON'T IMAGINE FOR an instant that Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, doesn't know exactly what he is doing in urging the Madison Square Garden management to sign Billy Petrolle for a title match with him on May 9. There's method in his madness.

Picking Petrolle as an opponent when Sammy Fuller, Jack (Kid) Berg or Kid Chocolate no doubt would prove much easier game, would appear rash at first thought, particularly as Canzoneri could probably knock off one or two of the others and then get the assured big gate with Petrolle later.

Tony Canzoneri

BUT TONY DOESN'T want Petrolle later. He wants him early. And there's a reason. Making the lightweight limit of 138 pounds is a hard job for the Fargo Express in cool weather. It's much easier in the hot months, when the weather helps him to make it without leaving a lot of his strength and stamina on the road or in a gymnasium. Therefore, Billy would not be as dangerous at 135 pounds in early May as he would be two months later. That may explain Canzoneri's proposal. Tony evidently is a pretty smart matchmaker as well as a great fighter. But he'll hardly get Petrolle for May 9. Jimmy Johnston wants that match for an outdoor show later. Petrolle desires another match with Berg, who won a 10-round decision over him 18 months ago, and that is likely to be the card for May 9.

WONDER HORSE STRICKEN ON COAST, DIES

By MILLER HOLLAND
International News Service

MENLO PARK, Cal., April 6.—Declaring himself mystified at the death of Phar Lap, Australia's great thoroughbred, Dr. William Nielsen, veterinarian, told International News Service today he planned to ask for a pathological examinatin of the famous animal's stomach. Nielsen said:

"I hesitate to say Phar Lap was poisoned, but I also hesitate to say it was a natural death due to colic, as appears on the surface.

"But in all my 15 years' experience as a veterinarian I've never seen a horse die so quickly. He was apparently only slightly indisposed in the morning. That afternoon he was dead."

At the peak of a racing career that stirred the admiration of the world, Phar Lap died late yesterday in his stall at the stables of the Ed Perry ranch here. An autopsy made a few hours later by Dr. Nielsen and Dr. Caesar Massero, of San Francisco, showed the stomach highly inflamed. Dr. Massero said it was undoubtedly colic.

HORSE ONCE FIRED ON

Nielsen, who has taken care of Phar Lap ever since the big gelding was a colt in New Zealand, recalled the attempt made on the horse's life last year at the Caulfield track, Melbourne. He said:

"An automobile drove up to Phar Lap's stall and somebody leaned out with a sub-machine gun or automatic pistol and emptied it at him. They missed him by three inches. They got away and we never could find out who they were."

David J. Davis, broken-hearted owner of Phar Lap, was inclined to accept the general consensus that death was due to colic caused by a foxtail, or a bit of alfalfa or barley sodden with dew, picked up while Phar Lap was exercising in an adjoining field. He said:

"I'm too distraught to know what to say. I haven't decided whether to permit a pathological examination or not. I don't think, however, it would be worth while because of possible international aspects."

VALUED AT HALF MILLION

Davis, who bought Phar Lap as a yearling for $800 and who valued him at between $300,000 and $500,000, was in Los Angeles when he learned of the horse's death. Davis sped to San Francisco by airplane.

Mrs. Davis also hurried to Menlo Park. When she met Jockey Billy Elliott, who rode Phar Lap to victory two weeks ago in the famous $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap—perhaps Phar Lap's greatest triumph—they both frankly gave way to tears.

Phar Lap was at Menlo Park awaiting a special race at Tanforan, north of here, prior to going east for a series of international races.

He was the greatest racer in Australian history and the second greatest money horse in the annals of the turf. His winnings totaled $329,745. Had he lived a few months longer he would easily have topped the money record of Sun Beau, the greatest winner in racing history.

The big "red terror" from Australia ran in 51 races. He won 37, was second on two occasions, third three times and unplaced in nine.

(Reg. by U. S. Patent Office)

By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE CHAMPION CANNIBAL OF ALL TIME—The Fiji Islands are the famous Cannibal Islands of history. They had food of every kind in abundance and yet exceeded every other people in their lust for human flesh. They were prompted to cannibalism by revenge, by religion, pride or appetite. Strong men would kill their own wives and eat them. Strangely enough, they had an aversion to the flesh of a white man, saying it was too salty. The champion cannibal of all time was Udrane, of Rakeruki, whose full name was Ra Udriudri. This monster extraordinary ate no less than 1,872 "long pigs" (human beings), permitting no one to share them with him. He glorified in the multitude of men he had eaten and kept an accurate record of their number of adding a stone to a fence which he erected for the purpose of this tabulation. Cannibalism is a thing of the past now, however. Outside of a short revival of this habit in 1892, it has been abolished for about 70 years. Yet, as I walked the streets of Suva today, I spoke to many adult Fijians whose fathers had eaten "many men." A VISIT TO UMBRELLALAND—Pago Pago, the American Naval Harbor on Tutuila Island, is the country of rain. Across the bay is a flat-topped mountain called the Rainmaker. Clouds constantly come up behind the Rainmaker and bump its sides. The result is a torrential downpour which keeps up for days at a stretch. As you watch the Rainmaker, it is possible to see the shower coming toward you. Samoa is umbrellaland. There are more umbrellas sold here per capita than in any other country on the globe.—Suva, Fiji Islands, February 17, 1932.

U. S. DAVIS CUP TEAM NAMED

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—H. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., the national champion; Francis X. Shields, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison have been named by the Davis Cup committee to carry the United States standard against Canada in the first round of international tennis play.

The team originally selected by the committee included George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, runner-up to Vines in the national singles last year, with Allison as alternate, but Lott announced his retirement from Davis Cup play "for business reasons."

All but Vines, the lanky California youngster, played for the United States in Davis Cup matches last year. Van Ryn and Allison also were the American doubles combination in 1929 and 1930. Allison played only against Mexico last year, Lott taking his place as Van Ryn's doubles partner in the interzone final against England. Allison and Van Ryn are the present national doubles and former Wimbledon title holders.

The team includes three of the first four ranking players in singles—Vines, Shields and Van Ryn—and the No. 1 doubles combination—Van Ryn and Allison. Allison was ranked ninth in singles.

HUNTINGDON GETS COACH

ALTOONA, Pa., April 6.—Fred M. Peiffer, coach for six years at Perkiomen Seminary, Pennsburg, who recently resigned effective at the close of this term, was elected last night as coach for Huntingdon High. He succeeds J. H. Everard, 17 years in charge at Huntingdon. Everard is having retired principal of the high school.

FEATHERSTONE DIES

News was received here today of the death in Philadelphia of John (Pudge) Featherstone, former South Side Central League basketball player, who later starred in the Eastern League and played as a professional until about a dozen years ago. He was a star here in 1908-9.

Gibson Optimistic About New Buccaneers

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Manager George Gibson is deeply optimistic about his new baseball club, despite the appearance on his Pirate roster of a host of unproved rookies, some of whom are carded for regular positions.

Inasmuch as the long spring training season has practically ended, and with the season's opening only a few days removed, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph asked Manager Gibson for an expression on the Buccos, especially seeking a resume on the unusual crop of recruits which graces the Pittsburgh entry.

Gibson has complied with the request in a highly interesting manner. While he does not attempt to predict where the Buccos will "place" this year his views were filled with high hope. He is wise in refraining from definite predictions in view of the makeup of his club. Perhaps he thinks the Freebooters are the kind of team capable of very good and very bad play owing to its experimental makeup, and, therefore, he would wish to see them over a long and hard test before he says anything that might incriminate him. Yet George says Pittsburghers will be pleased with their team.

VAUGHAN IMPRESSIVE

The big Canuck offers some tangible testimony regarding his appealing rookie band. He thinks the game has something bright in store for boys like Floyd Vaughan, Tony Piet, Gus Dugas, Woodie Jensen, Dave Barbee, Hal Finney, Bill Brenzel, Earl Grace, Bill Swift and Bill Harris.

Gibson, moreover, is quite sure the fans will like the new club. He looks for some very stiff opposition from the Giants and Cubs, despite the fact that the Pirates laid low the Bruins in the California series. He shares this writer's opinion of the Giants, to wit:—McGraw's club is a headliner aside from a somewhat doubtful slab staff.

Tune in on Gibby, fans. He writes:

"Dear Chilly—Your letter received and was very glad to hear from you. Sorry you and the other boys were unable to make the trip with us. We were blessed with the finest kind of weather in Pass Robles, but ran into a lot of cold wind and fog in San Francisco, which did not do us any good. But in Los Angeles the weather was wonderful, and we surely took advantage of every minute of it.

"Our boys are doing fine; we have had our reverses which one can expect at this time of the year, but events like these in most cases help in the games to come.

"On the whole I am satisfied with the look of the Pirates. All the boys are taking an interest in their work, and I feel sure we will have a team which will please the fans of Pittsburgh.

"The Giants are a good looking team; if their pitchers hold up they should be in the running all the way. The Cubs are trying out some new players, but will have a good club and one that will be hard to beat. Hornsby has his boys all fighting and showing the kind of spirit that helps any team.

"Vaughan is a promising youngster who has a very bright future ahead of him.

PIET IMPROVED

"Piet is improving each day and should be a big help to the Pirates this year.

"Dugas is a very willing worker, the kind that wants to get somewhere. He is improving in his fielding and he is a natural hitter, although he has not found his stride yet. He is very promising.

"Jensen, a fine hustler, is getting better all the time. He likes his work and he will improve in his hitting.

"Barbee is a natural hitter, but he also is slow in starting in the batting line. He is bound to make rapid strides in this direction as he is a better hitter than he has shown so far.

"Finney is a very promising young

ERIE BOWLERS ROLL HIGH

DETROIT, April 6.—While Pittsburgh pinsters idled through the events of the annual American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday, Erie lads did a fair job of cashing in as three pairs from that city and five individuals hit out counts which will mean pay checks.

Leading the attack was E. Kaminski and J. Sliss with 1206 in the doubles. G. Spahn and J. Andric posted a 1151 and E. Andric and K. Andric 1146.

Single shooting was led by J. Andric with 672, this being second high of the day. The 619 of K. Andric, 610 of L. Meyers, 600 of C. Panitzke and 586 of O. Eger also will pay. The Pittsburgh scores:

President Hoover To Throw Out First Ball

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—President Hoover will drop the cares of his office next Monday afternoon, at least long enough to toss out the first ball in the season's opening game here between the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

Mr. Hoover's throwing arm has been trained during the winter at his daily medicine ball game with a four-pound ball.

CARDS, GIANTS NAMED AS FAVORITES

By BABE RUTH
Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

My selection as the 1932 flag winner in the National League is the St. Louis team, which already has won two consecutive pennants and four in the past six seasons. I do not expect to see Street's team win by any such margin as in 1931, when the Cardinals had something of a walkover and finished 13 games ahead of the Giants. But I am convinced that this team carries too much all-round strength to be beaten out in the pennant race which opens next week.

Babe Ruth

As has been my custom for several seasons, I have doped out the order in which I think the teams should finish. Here it is:

1—St. Louis.
2—New York.
3—Pittsburgh.
4—Brooklyn.
5—Chicago.
6—Boston.
7—Philadelphia.
8—Cincinnati.

YOUNG BLOOD FOR CHAMPS

In the above group four teams are placed in the same position as they occupied at the close of the 1931 race. They are the Cardinals, Giants, Brooklyn and Reds.

The four other clubs are changed, as I expect to see the Pirates force the Cubs out of the first division, and I believe the Braves and Phillies will reverse their finishing position of last fall.

I believe in the case of the St. Louis club that the young blood, brought up to the majors from the developing fields of the Cardinal system in the minors, will make up for the changes which have taken place since the world series. Grimes is gone, and so are Andy High and Wally Roettger, all of whom figured in the big success last October. But all of the other headliners still are with the Cardinals, and the team has acquired a winning habit. New and younger talent has been added and Street's team with a world series success to spur it on looks best.

GIANTS BIG THREAT

I look for the Giants to finish closer to first place than they did last season. They tell me Koenecke is quite a ball player and I am quite sure Critz will be far more valuable to the team than he was last year. Then again Vergez and Mooney should improve as a result of their experience in the 1931 pennant race. McGraw still has Terry, Jackson, Lindstrom, Ott, Fitzsimmons and other headliners of the past, and his team should be in the fight all of the way. But I don't look to the Giants to finish ahead of the Cardinals.

I have picked the Pirates to finish third this year, and the Cubs, who were third a year ago, to top the second division. It may be just a hunch, but that is the way it strikes me. Lloyd Waner was ailing last spring and he now is in good health, and they tell me Traynor looks great. I have looked over the Pirates' roster and I cannot figure this team as a second division aggregation.

Brooklyn is picked for fourth. This team has undergone more changes than any other team in either league. It has a new manager and several new players, including Hack Wilson, Joe Stripp, Tony Cuccinello, Clyde Sukeforth and Waite Hoyt. Some figure the Dodgers will finish higher, but I can't see them above fourth. They have some good talent, but they lost some good players, as well. Babe Herman is likely to be

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 6.—I see Chick Hafey's still holding out from the Cardinals, and he certainly picked a swell year to do it in. If Chick is the kind of athlete that would rather play tackle in a bread line than centerfield for the Cards, that's his affair.

Nick Altrock

Even Babe Ruth took a $5,000 cut, and if they reduced the President's wages to 40,000 bucks per annum, there'd still be just as many candidates.

Speaking of the President, I noticed our government is now running behind $7,000,000 each day. And it would be just our luck to have this happen in a leap year, wouldn't it!

DALLAS, April 6.—The Pirates and the Cubs will complete their six-game exhibition series inaugurated in California last week, with a contest here today. Yesterday, at Fort Worth, the Men of Hornsby snapped out of their slump and took the Pirates into camp, giving them two wins out of five starts with the Pittsburghers and the opportunity to gain a tie in the series. Yesterday's score favored the Bruins by 4-to-2.

The Pirates failed to continue their brilliant work of the games played in Los Angeles and dropped into a slump. At Los Angeles, the Bucs pounded the ball to all corners of the field, but failed to keep up their good work as they faced Pat Malone yesterday, the Chicago moundsman limiting them to three hits.

If Manager Gibson had put more importance on the winning of the ball game instead of giving his hurlers some work, the Bucs might have emerged with a victory.

Gibson, who lays more stress on keeping his men in condition than to the winning of exhibition games, has arranged a schedule for the remainder of the tour whereby his hurlers will work only a half game, two pitchers being used in every contest.

French was in fine fettle yesterday as he mowed down the Cubs for the first five innings, and there did not seem to be any reason why he couldn't keep up his brilliant work for the remainder of the game. But Gibson removed him in the fifth to allow Harris to get some work.

Glenn Spencer and Steve Swetonic will hurl today against the Cubs, the game being played at Dallas. Spencer will pitch the first five innings, with Swetonic taking up the work from there on.

DIVING STARS CLASH HERE

Pitt, Homestead Library, Coyne Aquatic Club and the Willows Pool will have entries in the junior national swimming and diving championships to be decided tonight in the Keystone Athletic Club pool.

A classy field has been entered in the low board diving championship. Among the stars are John Carik, local ace; W. J. Casey, Rugerio Rocco, of Philadelphia, Frank Bolon and Thomas Pope, of Cleveland; Frank Fehsenfeld and Hal Benham, of Indianapolis, and Richard Louttit, of Uniontown.

Miss Mae Cutnell is entered in the 300-yard A. M. A. championship medley race for women.

Akron Club Pilot Seeks Buc Players

John J. McCloskey, manager of the Akron club of the new Central League, was a visitor at Pirate headquarters for the purpose of acquiring some young Bucros for his club. Vice President Sam Watters, of the Pittsburgh club, regretted he was unable to help out the veteran pilot; he could not promise him anything, as the few extra Pirates available this year probably will be placed with clubs of Class A grade or higher.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Emmett Rocco vs. George Panka, 10 rounds, and Jimmy Moore vs. Lee Sala, Johnny Cataline vs. Little Pal and Ray Winbush vs. Bud Ciccerone, 6 rounds each, Moose Temple.

Jimmy Hannah vs. Sammy Jones, 10 rounds, San Francisco.

The magic that is in the word heavyweights will lure the boxing fans to the Moose Temple arena downtown, tonight. Two district rivals, Emett Rocco, of Ellwood City, and George Panka, of Homestead, will meet in the 10-round main bout, their second clash, Rocco having won the first one on a knockout in six rounds via an Adam's apple punch in the Motor Square Garden ring 18 months ago.

Emmett Rocco

Lee Sala, of Donora, and Jimmy Moore, Negro, of the Hill, middleweights, will box the semi-final; Little Pal, of Chicago, takes the place of Leon Jendrasiak, Grand Rapids southpaw, who has a badly cut eye against Johnny Cataline, of Charleston, W. Va., in the second bout, and Ray Winbush, Hill Negro welterweight, takes on Bud Ciccerone, of Braddock, in the opener, at 8:30.

Between Rounds

Francis Flynn, former local boxing promoter, just returned from an 18 months stay in Portland, Ore., is managing a German wrestler from Reading, Dutch Henry Krebbel. Krebbel has been in this country only a little more than a year, hailing from Dortmund, Germany, where he was trained by the same handler who developed Hans Steinke. He is a 190-pounder and won a lot of medals for his grappling prowess in the old country. Flynn is trying to arrange to have his Dutch Henry appear in one of the preliminaries on the Jim London-Frank Speers card in Motor Square Garden next Tuesday night.

Jim McGirr, McKeesport promoter, has completed his bill for his show tomorrow night. He has Marty Gormick, of Whitaker, and Matty Oldach, of Erie, in the 10-round main bout; Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, and Jimmy Dean, of Erie, in the semi-final; Hal Finney of the Hill, and Joe Brown, of Erie, in the second bout, and Petey Jahn, of the North Side, and Andy Kosel, of Turtle Creek, in the opener.

A Pee Wee Kaiser-Joe Gibouley bout in St. Louis has been postponed from tonight to April 19 because of an attack of illness suffered by Kaiser.

Lionel Conacher, star hockey player formerly of the Pittsburgh team, and now of the Montreal Maroons, has gone in for wrestling. He has placed himself under the care of Michaeloff, the Toronto impresario, and is in training. The big fellow is a great all-round athlete. He played football for Duquesne University when he first came here and also has starred in rugby and lacrosse.

Young Nanel, of Swissvale, has been boxing successfully in Florida this winter and will return home soon fit to box any of the local bantams. He will be managed, as before, by Mike Harding, of the North Side, who also wants to show Red Bush, of Cumberland, against any of the light-heavyweights, and also has Georgie Peck, North Side welterweight, back in training.

Louie Severo, of Erie, has been engaged to box Sammy Chernoff, of New York, in the first eight-round bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, and Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., will meet an opponent to be selected in the six-round opener. Vincent Hambright and Ted Yanosz box the windup, and Lew Franklin, of Philadelphia, is in with Mose Butch in the eight-round semi-final.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning from the Oakley undertaking parlors, Jackson and Monterey streets, for the late James Henry (Curley) McCoy, oldtime local boxer, who died Tuesday at the age of 73. McCoy met John L. Sullivan, Joe Walcott and others. A son, Jimmy, Jr., also was a boxer.

Matchmaker Apples Meyers, of the Kaphan Arena, has completed his card for Friday night with the signing of Dick Evans, Youngstown veteran, to box Harry Harris, Bellaire (O.) middleweight, in the six-round semi-final, and Carl Montagano, of Braddock, to tangle with Patsy Wallace, Negro, of New York, in the second bout over the same route. Billy Hunt, Negro welterweight, of Homewood, boxes Billy Rose, of Cincinnati, in the 10-round main bout, and Russell Powers, of Youngstown, meets Anson Green, of Homestead, in the opener.

Negotiations between Motor Square Garden and Forbes Field for the use of the baseball park as a boxing arena have been advanced with the idea of staging several major bouts there this summer. No definite arrangement has been reached, however. The club has quoted its terms and the next move is up to the Garden, it was said today.

OLYMPIC BOXING TESTS DRAW LOCALS

By JESS CARVER

Pitt, Tech, Duquesne, West Virginia and Wash-Jeff leather slingers will represent this district in the National Intercollegiate Olympic boxing tryouts, which are scheduled to get under way in Penn State's nifty field house Friday. The trials will be concluded Saturday night.

West Virginia will have the strongest representatives, with four scrappers entered. The Mountaineer lineup includes Johnny Gallo, 147-pounder; Chuck Payne, 160-pounder; Bill Neely, at 135 pounds, and Cap. Len Hawkins, the crack 175-pound star.

Three Dukes, Fred Moore, 145-pound star; Tony De Piero, freshman heavyweight puncher, and Fred (Speedy) Vitulla, 115-pounder, are entered. CRAVOTTA WINS

UNIONTOWN ACE COPS JUNIOR RING TITLE

BOSTON, April 6.—A national junior amateur boxing championship, the 147-pound crown became a prized possession of the Pittsburgh district here last night as the national tournament was completed. The 147-pound title was won by clever Charley Cravotta, of the Sands A. C. of Uniontown, Pa., who last week successfully retained his A. A. U. championship in Pittsburgh at the same weight.

Cravotta, a clever performer with a fine left hand and a heavy boxer withal, punched out a pair of victories to gain the title last night. First he whipped Albert Jesky, of Detroit, in a three-round semi-final bout, and then outclefl hooked Billy Burns, of Cleveland, in the final.

The only defending champion in the tourney, Steve Salek, of Lowell, Mass., was beaten in the final round by Nat Boi, of Fall River, in the 126-pound class.

In the 118-pound class, Francis Walsh, of Worcester, defeated Joe Archibald, of Pawtucket, R. I., in three rounds. Henry Burns, of Boston, won the honors in the 118-pound weight by defeating Leon Luckman, of Baltimore. Johnny Kilcullen, Yale footballer, was crowned heavyweight champ when he defeated Joe Uzdavinis, of Northwestern University. Ray McCullum, of Detroit, won the 160-pound championship by beating Mark Hough, New York Negro star, in the only knockout in the final rounds. Al Zanalla, of Lawrence, Mass., stopped Johnny Wilcox, of Daytona Beach, in the first round.

WILSON, HARPER TIE FOR MEDAL

PINEHURST, N. C., April 6.—(AP.)—Dick Wilson, Southern Pines golfer, shot a par 71 yesterday to slip into a tie with Chandler Harper, Virginia Beach, Va., for medalist honors in the North and South amateur tournament. They each carded 151 for the 36-hole qualifying round.

Wilson, former Georgetown University golfer, was back on his game after getting off to a poor start in the first 18 holes Monday. He turned in the only par card of the day to go with his first round score of 80.

Harper, former Virginia state champion, shot 74 to go with a 77 of Monday.

Forbes Wilson, York Harbor, Me., who led at the end of the first round with a 76, was unable to keep pace with the others and turned in a 78 to take fifth place among the qualifiers.

The OLYMPIC GAMES

By Lawson Robertson

Head Coach American Olympic Teams

CHAPTER XIV.

I am not an advocate of a diet for athletes.

The only things which I prohibit for my boys are heavy pastries, fried foods and gravies—because of their grease content.

It is my conclusion, based upon years of experience, that an athlete, placed on a diet, no matter how choice and wholesome may be the foods, eventually finds his stomach rebelling against the monotony of steaks, chops and chicken.

Except on the day of the contest my boys are permitted to eat whatever they wish—the fried foods and heavy pastries of course excepted. Yes, that exemption includes corned beef and cabbage, sauerkraut and spare ribs and all the other foods that are commonly called heavy or hard to digest.

EAT REGULAR FOOD

A boy in training makes hard and long demands upon his energy. To replenish this he needs a variety of foodstuffs. And when he is in good condition his stomach functions normally and digests the heavy foods with almost the same ease as the others.

For many years it was quite the thing for trainers to bar certain foods and beverages.

When a system becomes accustomed to certain food or drink it really is harmful to forbid that to a man. So when a boy comes under my handling he can go right along eating the wholesome foods and drinking the beverages he likes.

On the day of the games I do put my boys on a diet. By that I mean I make up the menu for them so that they won't eat foods other than those which are wholesome, nourishing and quickly digested.

RESULTS GRATIFYING

An athlete is better acquainted with his stomach than the trainer, and because that is so and also because I know that an athlete with ambition and sincerity will not commit any eating folly, I leave it up to him during the training period to deal with his stomach.

The results have been gratifying.

Continued Friday.

RANGERS LOSE TO CANUCKS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP.)—The Toronto Maple Leafs gained a commanding lead over the New York Rangers in the competition for the Stanley Cup at Madison Square Garden last night by defeating the Rangers in the opening game of the series, 6-to-4.

The victory gave the Leafs a big head start in the series of the best three out of five games that will decide the 1932 holder of hockey's oldest and most prized trophy. The teams will meet again in Boston tomorrow, then complete the series in Toronto.

The game was one of the fastest, roughest and most exciting playoff contests ever seen in New York. Toronto's brilliant burst of scoring gave the Leafs a 5-1 lead at one time, but the Rangers fought back until they were just one goal short of a tie. A total of 19 penalties were meted out, Toronto drawing 10.

TECUMSEHS LEAD

LONDON, Ont., April 6.—(AP.)—The London Tecumsehs jumped into the lead in the International Hockey League's playoff series last night by whipping the Buffalo Bisons in a tightly contested battle, 1-to-0.

London now has compiled six points in four playoff games against five each for Buffalo and the Detroit Olympics and four for Windsor. An unassisted goal by Hoffinger in the last five minutes of play gave the Tecumsehs their win.

OLYMPICS VICTORS

WINDSOR, Ont., April 6.—(AP.)—The Detroit Olympics upset expert predictions last night, overcame a two goal lead and defeated the Windsor Bulldogs 4 to 2 in an International Hockey League playoff game.

It was Detroit's first victory in the playoff series, but put the Olympics in a tie for second place with the Buffalo Bisons. Each has scored five points against six for the leading London Tecumsehs.

HOMEWOOD HAS NEW POLICY

By TOM BIRKS

While many of the City Baseball League clubs are busy rounding up the best available talent, fans in the district are becoming more interested each day in the statement of J. Scott Morgan, president of the Homewood club, that he had instructed Manager Hank Daly to line up a real community team, with every position open for lads in the Homewood district who can qualify for same.

J. Scott Morgan

It takes nerve for any club president to break away from the precedent of giving the fans the best in the district regardless of the cost, and elect to run without a payroll, especially when it is a club such as Homewood.

This club, under the presidency of Morgan and the managerial rein of Hank Daly, has won two County League pennants, one Inter-County League flag and one City League title in six years.

SEEKS FANS' SUPPORT

In keeping with the times the Homewood president feels that the East End fans will be behind him in his attempt to give the local boys a chance to break into fast company.

Morgan is police magistrate of the East End station and played first base on the old Cottage baseball club many years ago. Later he was manager of the famous Lawless football team of East Liberty. He has the true amateur spirit and has a new club, the Scott Morgans, playing this season in one of the local junior leagues.

His deviation from the greatest organization of sandlot ballplayers in the district, to a community club that might get bumped around plenty, is a stand that comes in for admiration, whether he succeeds or fails.

HORNYAK SEEKS BERTH

When Johnny Hornyak appears before the City League officials tomorrow evening asking for a berth, he will speak for the Soho McKnights, and not the Soho Board of Trade. At meeting of the sponsors of the club the new name was adopted.

Fuzzy Andrews, first baseman, and Midge Atalski, outfielder, have been signed by Curley Semler, for his Geisler team, of McKees Rocks. Both are Juniata College graduates.

UPSET MARKS DOGWOOD PLAY

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 6.—(AP.)—The unexpected defeat of Bea Gottlieb, of New York, by Mrs. Ashby Taylor, of Atlanta, featured first round match play in the Sedgefield Country Club's Dogwood golf tournament yesterday.

Miss Gottlieb, who was favored to reach the semi-finals, fell before the steady stroking of the Atlanta entry, 4 and 2.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, the defending titleholder, turned back Deane Van Landingham, of Charlotte, former Carolinas champion, 5 and 3.

STOCKS AFTER MAKING LOWS RECOVER

Early Declines of 1 to 3 Mostly Cancelled and Some Gains Appear

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP).—The stock market experienced a selling climax in the early dealings today, then improved coincident with news of the Treasury's opposition to the proposed taxes on stock transfers and dividends.

Urgent selling in the first half hour depressed prominent issues 1 to 3 points and the market as a whole went into new low ground for the sixth successive session, but pressure relaxed thereafter and a slow recovery set in which not only cancelled most of the loss, but brought numerous gains of fractions to a point by early afternoon.

United States Steel was finally carried through its January low to a new minimum since 1908 at 35¼, where it was off 1¼, but later made a full recovery. American Telephone dropped 2 points to a new low since 1921, then rebounded 3. In the rails such issues as Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific and Santa Fe dropped 2 to 3 before recovering. International Match preferred dropped 1⅞ to a new low at 2 on the Kreuger & Toll report. In addition to American Telephone issues up a point or so by afternoon included North American, American Can, Liggett & Myers "B," Allied Chemical and Drug, Inc. American Smelting common was little changed by omission of the common dividend, but the preferred rose 5 points on news of the regular disbursement on that issue.

The early selling had the earmarks of a selling climax such as might be expected to interrupt a protracted decline such as that of the past week. Some 586,000 shares changed hands in the first half hour. Unfavorable overnight news undoubtedly swelled the early selling.

The weekly electric power consumption figures, however, were again unencouraging, showing a reduction of 11.9 per cent from last year, the largest yet.

Wall street was obviously much encouraged by the statement of Secretary Mills before the Senate Finance Committee opposing the proposed tax on stock transfers and dividends. Wall street has been strongly hopeful of defeat of the stock transfer tax in the Senate, but many quarters have feared that sentiment in favor of punishing Wall street for its past excesses might prove too strong. The Kreuger report, charging gross misrepresentation in its statements, was believed to have been largely discounted in the precipitant declines which have already taken place in those issues, and it was generally felt that further important repercussions here were unlikely.

STEEL ORDERS DELAYED

NEW YORK, April 6.—Iron Age tomorrow will say: Although conditions still seem to favor some rise in steel production this month, the orders that are being depended upon to bring about such improvement have been delayed. This is particularly true of automobile and railroad tonnage. Pig iron releases for the automobile industry have gained at Cleveland and Detroit, and the Fisher Body plant at Cleveland after a shutdown of several days has resumed production with the largest schedule in several weeks. Otherwise there is no significant change in the automobile situation.

The intense public interest that has been aroused by the automobile industry's spring sales drives may indicate a belated rise in automobile production.

Steel ingot production is barely holding at 22 per cent, which was last week's rate. A slight gain has occurred at Cleveland, but the Pittsburgh rate has declined to 20 per cent, with Chicago only a little above that.

Pig iron has declined 50 cents a ton at Chicago, bringing The Iron Age composite down to $14.35 a gross ton from $14.43 last week. Finished steel is unchanged at 2.087 cents a pound, and steel scrap remains at $8.21 a ton.

Pig iron production in March fell to the lowest point since August, 1921, the daily rate of 31,201 gross tons having been only a little above the minimum of the 1921 depression, which was 27,889 tons daily in July of that year. Last month's loss, on a daily basis, was more than 6 per cent from February. The February gain was not only erased, but the March rate went 424 tons below that of last December, the previous low month of this depression period.

EMBERS OF LOVE

Story of a Pretty Girl in Whom Burned The Flame of a Great Emotion

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Lily Lou Takes Her Son to California After Fame Is Established

CHAPTER LIV.

Tina brought Lily Lou the morning papers, while she was still in bed. She turned to the drama pages, saw the headlines . . . Turned away, a little sick with the excitement. After five years . . . after she had almost given up . . . Success.

Young Robin, glowing and happy, after his early morning play in the park, opened the door a crack, came running to the bed to throw his arms around her and ask to play Indian—"Just a minute, only a minute. I promised Tina I wouldn't play, only a minute with you!"

She pressed his cold cheek against hers, hugged him until he squirmed—

"Let's play mother-er—let's play."

So she submitted to being scalped, and they hunted for scouts under the pillow. After that Tina led him away, and she turned once more to the papers.

But she knew what was in them. She'd known ever since last night, almost from the moment that she made her first entrance she knew.

"Lily Lou Lansing rises from the night clubs to sing the second act of Butterfly . . . a romantic figure, young, slim and beautiful, possessed of a superb soprano voice that soars effortlessly into the higher reaches."

IS CONGRATULATED

The telephone began to ring. Reporters came. Strange people to congratulate her. Strange agents with contracts.

"A wonderful piece of luck," Tony said. "Dramatic, do you see? In the midst of a dull season, the new prima donna—out of the night clubs! Of course you're no more out of the night clubs than I'm out of the Royal Navy, but it makes no difference, it sounds well. You're made, Lily!"

"Thanks to you, Tony—and Nahlman and Gwin and my mother and my Uncle Eph, and all the others—"

"Nonsense, Lily! People can help just so much. After that—poof! You must blow up unless you have it—the spark—the flame."

"I don't feel flaming, Tony. Just tired."

He laughed, kissed her limp fingers. "You will rest!"

She laughed, too. "Of course!" But she wouldn't tell Tony the truth—that it had been too hard, that she was too tired, spiritually, to really care. Success was just life for Robin now, education, advantages. For herself, it was all over. She had accomplished what she had struggled for. And it wasn't worth while. Well, no turning back . . . on and on . . .

POPULARITY GROWS

She sang Butterfly again to a standing room only house. Sang Violetta, in Traviata next, sang it with all the frail charm of which Tony dreamed. Sang Mignon three nights later, with vivacity and brilliance, then Butterfly again.

New York was mad over her. Artists wanted to paint her. Advertisers wanted her to endorse vanishing cream, toothpaste, cigarets and wave lotion.

"But she knows a dozen—two dozen roles!" Tony said. "She's just starting! Didn't she troop for two years with Toscani?"

She had, and she did. Revivals of old favorites were promised Lily Lou Lansing to sing Gilda, Lucia, Tosca . . . rumors of a new opera created for her . . . Tony's Balkis.

The youngest prima donna, Lily Lou Lansing, not yet 21!

Lily Lou was almost 26, but that's the way with it.

There was a special nurse for Robin now—a French one, for old time's sake, and Tina was to be her personal maid. She kept the same apartment, though she had it alone now. Maxine Rochon had gone back to Los Angeles. Some sort of job in pictures.

CONSIDERS MARRIAGE

Friends? Oh, yes. A star has friends. And cronies—Tony, half a dozen real friends. Happy? Is anyone really happy, she asked herself?

Sometimes she thought that after all it might be simpler to marry Tony. He was free now, and he wanted to marry again. Carlotta, the first Mrs. Tony, had become very Americanized and demanded a divorce with large alimony directly after he became successful.

Still she didn't love Tony. She didn't want to marry. It was just that Tony wanted her, and he had been so good to her.

While she was trying to make up her mind, there came the chance to go to San Francisco as guest artist with the San Francisco Opera Company. Three roles, Mignon, Traviata and Snow Maiden, for the last matinee.

She hesitated at first. It would be hard to go back, and there was really no one left to care very much whether she did or not. Dad . . . but he never wrote . . . May said that they didn't even know where he was half the time.

There was the matter of Robin, too. She wouldn't make the long trip without him, and if she took him . . .

Well, what difference did it make? What could the world do to her now? Even if they did find out, her position was assured, and Robin's, too.

She sighed.

"Robin, we're going out West, you'll see your grandpa," she told him. "And your aunts and your cousins."

GOES TO CALIFORNIA

Never having met them, he was unimpressed. "Will there be Indians? I would like a little Indian to play with."

"I'm afraid not, darling."

"Then let's not go, mother. Let's go to Coney Island instead. Shall we?"

"I'm afraid it's too late to change our minds. I'm afraid we'll have to go out West," she told him, and she knew that she was sorry. She shouldn't have decided to go.

* * *

Madame Lansing, Lily Lou Lansing, youngest Metropolitan star, guest artist with the San Francisco Opera Company, registered at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Lily Lou read all about it in the papers.

She read all the notices about Lily Lou Lansing, Metropolitan star, with an avid interest that was more than half impersonal. She never felt that it was really she. She wasn't this glamorous person she read about. She was just herself, Lily Lou, who used to live in Woodlake, and had a broken heart once, and a little son now.

Still . . . it was she! She had paid all the old Lily Lou's debts with the new Lily Lou's money. She could buy the pretty things she saw in shops. A pink shaded lamp in a decorator's window . . . Her sister May would love it. All right! Charge it to Madame Lansing . . . A smocked dress for Irene's little girl, charge that, too . . . Too bad she couldn't buy pretty things for Robin, but he was so boyish now, a tall, sturdy 5-year-old who knew his ABC's and could count, and wanted to go to school like the other boys.

"I could endure a $40 a day suite," May said dryly.

please moth-er'

Did he miss not having had a father? She didn't know. Sometimes she wondered. He asked her so little. She was away from him so much. The French woman, Marie, and the maid, Tina, meant more to him than she did, she thought sometimes. Yet they were such chums. They had such glorious plays together. He did so admire her in her costumes and wigs.

She could never look at him without a lump in her throat, without wanting to take him into her arms and hold him tight and cry over him . . . Foolish . . .

May came to see her the day she arrived. May, grown a little heavier, a little older. Still working. Still broke. Looking with eyes of envy at the luxurious suite, Lily Lou's lovely gowns.

"I'd rather stay over in Oakland with you," Lily Lou said truthfully, "but I couldn't impose on you with Robin, and besides, one has to put up a front."

"I could endure it," May said dryly. "I could stand a $40 a day suite and a $1,000,000 worth of clothes, to please my public. But I do think it was very silly of you, Lily Lou, as I wrote you at the time. Bess said the same thing. Bess said you take an awful chance, adopting a child. Of course, Robin seems cute, but you don't know how he'll turn out. You don't know what kind of people he came from. His parents probably weren't even married!"

If you get a thrill out of mystery stories, don't miss the first instalment of "The Murder of the Night Club Lady" in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph. It will puzzle you! It will enthrall you! The murder of beautiful, tantalizing Lola Carewe defies solution. She was one of the most familiar figures in New York's gay night life, yet no one knew who she was! Thatcher Colt's solution makes this the most thrilling murder case you have ever read.

Notes Are Compared in Effort to Solve Chinese Mystery

Harry Underwood had been the only one to speak since our dismissal from the room where the surgeon and Katherine were watching the sorely wounded Chinese, but the rest of us had nodded in somber assent as he said: "It's all up with the poor devil, I'm afraid."

Lillian, characteristically, brought us back to action.

"What's your idea on this stunt, Harry?" she asked, "do you want Madge and me to compare her memory and my notes and see if they agree?"

"That's the ticket," her big husband said. "Between you, you ought to be able to give a very good repetition of this fellow's delirious mutterings to my Chinese friend in the city. If you can, he can translate them into English for us."

"We'll get busy, right away," Lillian said. "Where will we go?"

She looked a bit provocatively at Dicky and he caught her cue.

"Why don't you go over to the studio?" he said, giving to the bungalow which he had caused to be built for my work, the name which he had used continually since I entered it.

"That's what I'd like to do," Lillian said, "but I didn't like to propose it seeing that the temple is dedicated to the Muse of Drama instead of Cryptographs or what have you? I didn't know but the donor might object."

COMPARE NOTES

"Don't talk nonsense!" Dicky said, shortly, "and come on, get busy. I'll steer you girls over."

He took an arm of each of us and we went out of the door and down the steps across the yard to the orchard where my studio bungalow had the air of waiting for me. Dicky turned back at the door.

"Telephone or sound the fire siren if you need me," he said. "Until you do Harry and I will stick around and see what news there is from the sick room."

He left us and Lillian led the way into the little emergency "living room" at the back of the big veranda and closed the door.

"I've no yen to have an audience while we're going through our vocal exercises," she said with a wry grin.

I acknowledged her wisdom when, having settled ourselves in comfortable chairs opposite each other, we began comparing the queer jargon with which I had charged my memory and which she had transcribed in shorthand. Even with the shadow of death hanging over the room in the farmhouse, where the battered Chinese was hovering on the borderline between time and eternity, Lillian and I could not restrain our laughter at the queer sounds we were making.

"It clicks," Lillian said finally, when we had gone over the thing for the seventh or eighth time. "We sound like twins speaking a piece. We'll do for now, don't you think?"

"Yes," I agreed, "but I think we ought to go over it together two or three times a day until Harry gets a chance to have his Chinese friend hear us. Does he really expect us to go into the city to go over this before his Chinese friend?"

COMPLICATED SITUATION

"If he does, he'll have to change his mind," Lillian said quickly. "I know who the friend is. He's a man of position and wealth and culture and a great sense of his own dignity and it'll take a lot of pow-wowing to persuade him to come out here for a few hours, but it must be done and Harry's the lad to do it. I've heard it said of him that he chipped a piece off the Blarney Stone, when he was traveling through Ireland, and has kept it in his pocket ever since. He'll be able to turn the trick if anybody can, but neither of us is going to leave the farmhouse till this particular flurry is over."

"Suppose we call the boys over and get this thing settled," she said. "We're facing a rather complicated situation, you know."

"Yes," I nodded in quick assent. "Will you telephone, or shall I?"

"If you think Dicky won't object to my touching the sacred instrument," she said, with a grin, which I returned, for Dicky is a bit childish about anyone else using the studio which he had planned so carefully for my work.

"I think we'll risk it," I said, and she went to the telephone and summoned our husbands.

They were at the door of the studio almost immediately.

"What's up?" they asked simultaneously.

"Come in and sit ye down," Lillian said, drawing chairs for them, "and we'll tell you."

More than 600 boys and girls attended the meeting of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, held last Saturday at the Arsenal Theater.

These children elected a new Grand Jester and Board of Governors to serve for the next four meetings. Bernadine Gressler was elected Grand Jester, and the Board of Governors will be Blanche Covaleski, Betty Richards, Lois Richards, Josephine Baran, Frances Kane, Betty Racke.

After the election of officers, Miss Gressler, the new Grand Jester, thanked the youngsters for electing her and then told them about the big free show to be held at the Stanley Theater on Sunday, May 15, for members of the Junior Komic Club. She told the children that if they attended four out of the next six meetings they would receive a ticket for the Sunday show. Mr. Otey, manager of the Arsenal Theater, then explained to the youngsters that to attend the show they must be members of the Junior Komic Club, and he urged each youngster present to bring another youngster to the meeting next Saturday, that is not a member of the club.

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. It may be an overloaded stomach, a starting cold, a little fever.

More often than not the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. Bowels need help—mild, gentle help—but effective. Just the kind Castoria gives.

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. And children take it without coaxing. They like its taste.

Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act. Then come relaxed comfort and restful sleep! You'll know genuine Castoria—by the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

The Public Is in No Mood to Submit Further to Exorbitant Utility Rates.

The public utilities are given fair warning in a number of significant incidents in various parts of Pennsylvania that the people are in no mood to submit further to unreasonable rates.

The Borough Council of Punxsutawney voted to leave its streets dark unless its electric light rates are reduced within a specified time. It warned the company that supplies the town's water that unless it lowers its charges a municipal water plant will be established.

The Borough Council of Sayre refused to renew a lighting contract at the existing rates on the ground they are exorbitant.

Drastic action to effect rate reductions was threatened by Mayor McCloskey, of Johnstown.

Pittsburgh's City Council has asked the Duquesne Light Company for a 20 per cent reduction in the street lighting rate.

Proposals for radical revision of the public utilities laws, including abolition of monopolistic privileges and authorization for municipalities to condemn and operate public utilities, were disclosed in the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association's questionnaire sent to candidates for the Legislature.

These are not isolated incidents, but show widespread irritation. The utilities companies, if possessed of elementary prudence, will heed the handwriting on the wall.

The Wolf at the Door

Pittsburghers Must Come to the Rescue of 28,000 Families Facing Starvation.

The "Family-Help-Family" campaign starts tomorrow.

Families with incomes, with breadwinners still at work, with more than they need for their own necessities, are asked to share their blessings with 28,000 Allegheny County families that are threatened, literally, not figuratively, with starvation.

Specifically every comfortably fixed family is expected to take care of an unfortunate family by contributing $100 for its support for three months—that is, at the rate of about $33 a month.

But the "family-help-family" slogan is not to be construed too precisely. Many a family will be expected to support not one but numerous families, according to its means. A multi-millionaire may not be doing his duty if he stops short of supporting a thousand families. On the other hand, people in modest circumstances, if unable to contribute $100, will be expected to give what they can.

It will not do to attempt to shirk the duty to give with the excuse that the proposed appropriation under the Talbot act, or the proposed city bond issue for direct relief, or the work relief to be furnished by the various municipal projects now under consideration, will alleviate the situation.

These things will not furnish food to the starving for weeks, and the need is immediate. There is no other way to drive the wolf from the unfortunates' door except by generous contributions to the "Family-Help-Family" fund.

A Good Answer

President Herron Has Replied Ably to the Opponents of Subway Construction.

John S. Herron, president of City Council, has made a good answer to the opponents of the proposal that the subway be built forthwith as part of the unemployment relief program as well as to relieve downtown traffic congestion.

Calling attention to the fact that $6,000,000 of bonds were voted for the project by the people in 1919, President Herron remarked that "it's time to build the subway or stop talking about it."

Procrastination, unduly prolonged study of proposed public works, is one of our besetting sins. It is time we were breaking ourselves of this bad habit.

It took 50 years after the decision was reached to improve the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to Cairo before the job was completed.

Twenty-five years ago the decision was reached to erect a new postoffice, and the foundation for it has only been completed.

The subway, the river-rail terminal and the Town Hall are other examples of undue delay.

If these things have not been studied enough after all these years, let us forget about them. But of course there is no merit to the plea that they require additional prolonged investigation.

State Forest Additions

The Commonwealth Continues to Reclaim the Waste Lands in the Mountain Counties.

Lewis E. Staley, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, reports that the state purchased 116,400 acres of land, mostly in the mountain counties, last year for addition to the forest reserves.

The average price at which the land was bought—$2.42 an acre—indicates its character. It is waste land, unfit for the plow, good for nothing else but growing trees. Since it takes 50 years for a tree to reach sawlog size, there is little inducement for private capital to go into the tree planting business as a commercial venture. Hence it devolves upon the state to reclaim this waste land and restore it to a productive use.

The state commenced to acquire forest land in 1898 and now owns 1,545,543 acres. The value of the investment will be appreciated by Pennsylvanians of a generation or two hence, who will get a handsome return from their forests.

A Real Fisherman

Kenneth A. Reid, Appointed to the Fish Commission, Is an Authority on Angling.

Pennsylvania anglers have something to make them happy in the appointment of Kenneth A. Reid, of Connellsville, as a member of the State Board of Fish Commissioners. For there is no more ardent fisherman than Reid and few who know as much about fishing as he.

He is reported to have caught a 13½ inch trout when he was three years old. Since then he has caught and studied the habits of every species of game fish found in the United States and Canada. He has fished in 22 states and three Canadian provinces.

Reid can be depended upon to make a vigorous fight against stream pollution. He is so strongly interested in the preservation of the purity of streams that have not yet been contaminated that when he heard several years ago of a threat against the purity of certain West Virginia streams he went, although a citizen of Pennsylvania, to Charleston and, single-handed and at his own expense, conducted a successful battle against the big corporation that planned the spoliation.

The Plea Unheeded

(Copyright, 1932.)

When will the Administration show some concern for the nation's eight million unemployed?

It heeded the specious poverty plea of Europe, a plea that foreign debtors could not pay Uncle Sam the $243,712,000 justly due and owing him WHILE THEY WERE SPENDING $1,779,345,162 ON ARMAMENTS. This touching plea found a soft spot in the Administration's heart and the Hoover moratorium was the result.

It is interesting to note that "poverty stricken" France found THIRTEEN THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIVE MILLION FRANCS to lend to foreign nations since the Great War, not including SIX HUNDRED MILLION FRANCS to lend to Czechoslovakia, THREE HUNDRED MILLION FRANCS to lend to Finland and FOUR HUNDRED MILLION FRANCS for Polish railroads.

When our bankers cracked the whip the Reconstruction Finance Corporation came into being and TWO THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS OF PUBLIC FUNDS were placed at their beck and call.

When our eight million jobless asked for WORK, relief for them was decried as a "DOLE," while a TWO BILLION DOLLAR DOLE for the bankers was hailed as relief.

Even Nature smiled on the unemployed this year with the mildest Winter in years.

When will the Administration show some concern for the jobless and pass a $5,000,000,000 Prosperity Bond issue to create the needed jobs?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 6.—Word seeps from Paris that the lively group of American ex-patriates suddenly dwindled to a handful. Most of them have been regimented with the "have-nots" of a world churning in turmoil. Ciro's, the Ritz bar, Sherry's, Harry's and like haunts have the desolation of Napoleon's tomb.

Visitors have mostly hesitated over night in the French capital and sped on to St. Moritz. Count Boni, shunted to a wheel chair, no longer circulates, boutonnieres and marcelled, around fashionable Place Vendome. Mabel Corey Gilman clings to the bleak isolation of her Brittany chateaux.

Lou Hauser alone holds the fort, popping with clock-like precision into the Ritz bar at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m., as has been his custom for 15 years. But usual faces on the Cambon side are missing.

Ike Meltzger, celebrated Brooklyn Bridge newsie, cries European editions hopefully in front of the Cafe de la Paix, but patrons are scant. Hawk-nosed guides have abandoned stands near the American Express. Rachitic map-sellers are gone. So are possessive ladies of the boulevards.

The blonde, silken-voiced Erskine Gwynne, whose mother was a Vanderbilt, managed to weather the storm with his Boulevardier, purveying spice to the Yankee colony, until two months ago. The former Paris play-boy was doing all the chores when the brave little journal gave up the struggle.

Sylvia Lyon, San Francisco girl, who boasts of being hired and fired by every sophisticated journal in London and Paris, is somewhere among the Montmartre attics, turning out a novel. Ernest Hemmingway fishes obscurely among the Florida keys. Pearl White is thoroughly domesticated in Constantinople.

Gilbert White, portrait painter and raconteur extraordinary, spends most of his time in his studio and save for a reunion with Charles G. Norris around the Christmas holidays has been as secluded as a monk in a cloister. So Paris drowses, awaiting The Great Change.

New York has about 150 fox-hunters riding to hounds yearly. Most of the pink-coats are transplanted Virginians or Carolinians and people of means. Nothing can stop them from the steeplechase. Rupert Hughes, in the throes of a novel, consumes a quart of coffee a night. He brews his libations at the side of his work-bench and fortifies himself at half hour intervals. Then there is Damon Runyon, who can do away with a dozen cups or so if the company is convivial. But the heaviest java drinker of all was the late Alfred Henry Lewis, who kept a huge percolator bubbling night and day and refreshed himself with demi-tasse gulps every 15 minutes.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Why are some persons popular? Why do we "take to them" at once, vote them good fellows, yet regard with coolness others who try to win our favor?

You've seen it happen scores of times. Two women, perhaps, equally attractive, equally friendly, equally intelligent; yet one, seemingly without effort, will find a welcome wherever she goes, and the other is ignored, if not actually avoided. Strange!

"But I guess it just happens that way!" you say.

Nothing "just happens that way." There is a reason for everything. There is a very plain reason for popularity.

Why do we like people at all? Why do we seek companionship?

We seek companionship because it adds something to our own lives. Primarily we do not like people for what they are in themselves, but for what they can do for us. They may be saints or geniuses, but if they can't do anything for us they leave us cold.

This may seem a selfish reason for liking people, but such selfishness is natural and healthy. Self-preservation — self-advancement—that is and should be the first law of nature. Our own lives are our first job. We seek that which promotes that job. We seek friends as we seek food and shelter, and for the same reason—we need them to help us live.

Life is a lonely and terrifying affair. We are filled with unsatisfied hungers, nagging fears. Always there is a secret cry in us for something or someone that will help us endure or conquer life.

That is why we need people. We are afraid to be alone with ourselves. We scan each new face with the same eager, inner questioning. Will, or won't, this new person lift us out of ourselves; make us more sure of ourselves; give us courage, confidence, laughter, peace?

And if the stranger does put us at our ease; if suddenly we feel happier, stronger, smarter, braver, then there is more than pleasure in our attitude to that stranger. There is gratitude. He has done something for us, and we like him because he has.

Later on, we may come to like him for himself alone. We may like him even if he becomes a bore and a burden. But at first we like him solely for his reactions on our own spirits.

But why are certain people able to put us instantly at our ease, with hardly a word or gesture?

BECAUSE THEY ARE AT EASE THEMSELVES.

They have made a comfortable adjustment of their own lives. Sometimes it was easy to make that adjustment because they were simple people, not bothered by self-consciousness. Sometimes they had a terrific struggle to achieve that amiable calm; but, whatever their secret difficulties, they now have themselves in hand.

They are no longer prickly with their own problems. They are not constantly conscious of their own fear, irritation, self-pity and confusion. They have learned how to take themselves and life easily, and unconsciously they emanate that attitude of ease. They are comfortable to have around. They warm and soothe us and renew our confidence. If they can manage to take life smoothly, so can we!

We do not make this analysis consciously, any more than we consciously question the stranger, but that is our unconscious reaction to the people we like. That is why we like them—why they become popular.

And the unpopular people?

We are not at ease with them because they are not at ease with themselves. They are unhappy, afraid. Unconsciously, they spread their own disorder. Their very yearning for affection adds to our own secret sense of unfulfillment.

So it is not a privilege or a pleasure to know such people. It is a problem. We may pity them, or even admire them for certain virtues, but they are certainly no treat. And, since they can give us nothing, we give them nothing in return.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Enemies

What are the enemies
That rob man of his ease,
And form the somber train
That brings him fear and pain?
Not the relentless foe
He dreaded long ago;
Not the unfaithful friend
Who failed him in the end.

Each man must look within
To find the stealthy sin,
The evil deed or quest
He cherished in his breast;
The malice lurking there,
The envy or despair.
These are the fearful things
From which his sorrow springs.

All bitterness and doubt—
Each man must root them out,
And from his soul must fling
The dark desires that sting,
Lest he prove in the end
His own unfaithful friend!

Curry: Wagner's Bill: An Unwritten Story

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Republican press is much exercised over the interview given the Washington correspondents by John F. Curry, head of the successful Democratic organization in New York City. There was nothing in the least sinister in what was said; the most amusing feature was that some correspondents were amazed to find themselves in the presence of a gentleman without horns. Some of the Republican press is much concerned because Mr. Curry has appeared occasionally in Washington this winter and that we can understand; it is so incredible that any Democrat in Congress should share this concern that we suspect it is not true.

Mr. Curry is the head of the most efficient Democratic organization in the country, which wins Democratic victories; which produced a Cardoza for the Supreme Bench, a Wagner and Copeland for the Senate, and has kept the gubernatorial office in New York in the possession of the party since 1918, with the exception of two years. Had Govs. Smith and Roosevelt "cut loose" from the Democratic organization in New York City and the organization "cut loose" from them, neither would have had the opportunity to serve the public.

But we are more impressed with the fact that Tammany, or the Democratic organization in New York City, is found on the side of the people and against the highly organized exploiters. That is our test of Jeffersonian Democracy. We wish we could say as much of all the Democratic organizations in all the states. When Mr. Curry went to Washington at the beginning of the session to pledge the Democratic organization of the House loyal support of its policies and programs he earned the appreciation of every real Democrat in the country.

* * *

Wagner Loyal to Jeffersonian Democracy

We wish every Democrat in the Senate were as loyal to Jeffersonian Democracy as Senator Wagner. We know not one single one who is more devoted to the Jeffersonian principles of equal rights and human service. Not one member of the Senate has shown more constructive capacity or more prescient statesmanship. He is one of the all too few who seems to realize that one of the functions of government under the Jeffersonian concept is to protect the rights of ordinary men to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." He is such an incorrigible Jeffersonian that he still believes that these rights are among the "inalienable rights." That is the reason he has sought to meet some of the economic problems of the unemployed.

All of which is apropos of the hearings in Washington on his bill for the co-ordination of the federal and state employment activities. Just why it is necessary to have hearings again we do not know—except that this is a new Congress, and there are three or four new Senators. The Wagner bill was considered in the last Congress and it passed the Senate, we believe, with no opposition or with scarcely any. It was killed by President Hoover with a pocket veto. That rather aroused the ire of the country.

* * *

Doak Changed His Mind

When it was thus killed Republican papers, independent papers, expressed astonishment. The bill had been carefully prepared with the active aid of economists, social workers, men and women practiced in the work of employment relief. Thus there was a storm. We had not then become so accustomed to millions of bread-winners denied their inalienable right to work, nor so sweetly—or shall we say stupidly—reconciled to it.

Under the lash of criticism the administration then put its publicity agencies to work to tell us what it was going to do with the utterly inefficient employment service. It was news to most of us that the Federal Government had anything of the sort. Mr. Doak, the present head of the work as Secretary of Labor, had appeared before his appointment in favor of the Wagner bill. But he changed his mind with his habitat. Some men do that easily.

* * *

The Bill Should Be Passed

Miss Frances Perkins, the Industrial Commissioner of New York, one of the most sincere and efficient public servants in that State, appeared before the hearing the other day to urge the passage of the Wagner bill. She pointed out the increasing need of an effective Federal employment service because of the increase in the "mobility of labor, both occupationally and geographically." She called attention to the fact that the Federal service does not function at all in New York except in communities where the State is functioning. She tells us that there is no semblance of co-operation where competing agencies are set up, that she has never been informed of any of the plans of the Federal service. She reminds us that there is unpardonable waste in public money in this duplication of work. And she concludes:

"If the Federal service would function merely as a clearance agency to promote job clearance among the States it would give us vastly better service than we are now receiving. If the money now appropriated for the Federal employment service were given to the States to spend under civil service regulations according to carefully worked out plans, mutually agreed upon by the State and Federal service, it would do twice as much good in getting jobs as it does under the present system."

And, of course, it would.

The bill should be passed and Mr. Hoover given another opportunity to kill it with a veto.

The Story of Diplomatic Phrasing

In Ireland, De Valera's colleagues in the Government have forced a moderating of the tone of the communication to be sent to England regarding the oath. Apropos of Ireland, we recall an incident in moderating the tone of a state paper that proved embarrassing. The incident is not generally known. When Sir Roger Casement was about to face his execution, the late Senator Martine, of New Jersey, offered a resolution in the Senate asking executive clemency for the Irish patriot from the British Government. But Martine had put more of his heart than his head into it and it fell short of the finesse of a state paper.

Senator Stone, of the Foreign Relations Committee, took it in charge, and moderated the phrasing. But something more was done. The resolution asked for clemency for Casement alone; and since there were others facing trial or execution, and it was thought other resolutions might be offered, Stone substituted for "Sir Roger Casement" the words "political prisoners." In that form the resolution passed. That was late on Saturday.

Since time would be lost, and the execution was set for Wednesday, in getting the resolution to the White House and then the State Department, the State Department put the resolution in code and cabled it at once, asking that it be "informally presented" by our ambassador, with the promise of the official resolution later. By the time the paper reached the State Department, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice called with the "informal" reply—which was to the effect that the British government did not consider Sir Roger a "political prisoner!" It was then too late for any further action; and it was impossible to explain just what had happened, for the friends of Casement here would have charged a trick in the changing of the original resolution. It would not have been true, for Stone was deeply sympathetic with the Irish.

It was absurd to say that Casement was not a "political prisoner." But nothing could be satisfactorily explained; nothing was attempted; and many bitterly charged that our government had played deliberately into the hands of England. So runs the story of diplomatic phrasing.
